ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

FINAL

Vol. 105. No. 171. (75th Year) ST. LOUIS, SATURDAY, MARCH 21, 1953—20 PAGES PRICE 5 CENTS

35 KILLED, TROOP PLANE FALLS, BURNS IN CALIFORNIA; INVESTIGATION UNDER WAY

30 SERVICE MEN, 5 IN CREW DEAD, THEORY OF ICE ON WINGS ADVANCED

Craft Plunges to Earth in Rain — Eyewitnesses See Victims Struggling on Ground, Clothing Afire.

OAKLAND, Calif., March 21 (AP) — An investigation was launched today of the flaming crash of a four-engined plane last night in which 35 passengers and crewmen were killed.

Among the dead was Airman Second Class Norman E. Wilson, 2424 Gaty avenue, East St. Louis, Negro, 21 years old.

The Transocean Air Lines cargo plane, operated on lease from the Air Force, plummeted into a soggy field of cabbage at Decoto, 20 miles south of here, just a few minutes after clearing for a landing at Oakland airport.

Alameda county sheriff's Capt. Richard E. Condon, on the crash scene, confirmed that there were no survivors.

Passengers Were Airmen.

All passengers were Air Force personnel bound for the Far East. There were five in the crew, including the stewardess. They included the company's chief pilot, Harvey Rogers, 41 years old, Lafayette, Calif. He is survived by a widow and three children.

Others in the crew were: Herman E. Hum, 41, pilot, Daly City, Calif.; Fred W. Patchett, 37, copilot, Burlingame, Calif.; Miss Velma Sanridge, 27, stewardess, Oakland; and Mrs. F. E. Chapman, El Paso, Tex., second stewardess.

Mrs. Chapman, a sister-in-law of Rogers, made the flight to Oakland to visit relatives. Her husband is a Standard Oil Co. executive.

The 30 airmen were from Walker Air Force base, Roswell, N.M. The Air Force said the airmen were support and maintenance specialists en route to the Far East for a tour of duty with the 509th Bomber Wing now stationed overseas. The wing's location was not disclosed.

Many of the airmen's next-of-kin live in Roswell, said an Air Force information officer. Most of the victims had been stationed there for some time.

Plane a Ball of Fire.

Eyewitnesses said the plane drifted through a light rain and then bounced off the field and ignited in a ball of fire.

(A United Press dispatch said authorities sought to learn whether the crash was caused by ice coated on the plane's control surfaces.

(Civil Aeronautics Authority officials said the pilot of the four-motor plane gave no indication of trouble last night when he radioed the Oakland airport 23 miles north of here and said he was flying at an altitude of 3500 feet to make a standard instrument landing approach.)

Mrs. Henry Andrade, who lives only 300 yards from the crash scene, said she heard a crash and then a series of explosions. She ran as close to the burning plane as she could.

"I saw men with their clothes on fire—some on the ground—some trying to get up, staggering, falling back into the flames."

Sheriff's officers said bodies

3 MEN HOLD UP 20 IN STORE, FIRE 3 SHOTS AT CLERK

Robbers Flee From Hardware Concern With $2000, Shoot at Passer-by as They Leave.

More than 20 persons were held at pistol point today by three armed men who robbed the Melcher-Schene Hardware and Lumber Co., 4800 Natural Bridge avenue, of about $2000 and fled after firing three shots at one of the employes.

Rudolph Zuroweste, office manager, told the Post-Dispatch the robbers entered shortly after 11 a.m. while about six customers were in the store. One went to a first-floor cashier's cage and pointed a revolver at Mrs. Ellen Reck, announcing it was a holdup.

While he cleaned out the cash drawer, he brandished his weapon, threatening seven other employes and six customers. His two companions meanwhile dashed up the stairway to a balcony where seven office workers were at their desks.

Zuroweste, who was conducting a conference in his office, came out to investigate the commotion the robbers had caused. He and the others were ordered to "keep still" and the telephone operator, Mrs. Jo Ann Butler, was warned when she attempted to put through a call on the switchboard.

Joseph Hessell, the firm's cashier-bookkeeper, then was ordered to open a wall vault where yesterday's receipts had been placed. He complied.

Zuroweste said another clerk, Douglas Saunders, who had not seen the two men run up to the balcony, started up the stairway at this point to warn that a holdup was in progress on the first floor. One of the robbers on the balcony called to him, "Don't come up."

When Saunders kept coming, the man fired three shots at him, the bullets tearing into the wall behind him. Saunders quickly retreated down the steps.

Stuffing the money from the vault in their pockets, the two ran downstairs, joined their companion and fled through a side door to Shreve avenue. Outside one of them fired several shots at a man who had begun shouting that they were holdup men.

They drove south in Shreve in a black Packard sedan which, police said, had been stolen. The machine was abandoned at Lexington and Shreve avenues and witnesses told officers the robbers got into another automobile and were seen driving west in St. Louis avenue.

PUPILS MISLEAD NEW DRIVER, BUS NEVER GETS TO SCHOOL

HILLSIDE, N.J., March 21 (AP) —A new bus driver got a hazing yesterday morning when he asked his junior high school pupil passengers to help him out with directions.

They gave directions all right—and the bus wound up several miles from the school.

After an hour's delay, the unidentified driver finally got his charges back where they started from. He just ousted them from the bus and drove off. Police got the pupils rounded up and back to school.

ADMINISTRATION STANDS PAT IN SAVAGE CONFLICT OVER BOHLEN

McCarthy Calls Dulles's Statements Untrue, Demands He Be 'Put Under Oath' on Choice of Moscow Envoy.

By WALLACE R. DEUEL
Diplomatic Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 21—A savage conflict over the nomination of career-diplomat Charles E. Bohlen as Ambassador to Russia built up here today as the Administration stood pat on its choice of Bohlen in the face of fresh attacks on him by Senators McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, and McCarran (Dem.), Nevada.

McCarthy and McCarran also attacked Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for his insistence on Bohlen's nomination. Statements on the Bohlen case which Dulles made at a press conference late yesterday are "untrue," McCarthy said. He demanded that Dulles be "put under oath" and questioned further by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Nomination to Stand.

The Administration has no intention of withdrawing Bohlen's name, Dulles told his press conference. President Eisenhower took this same position at his press conference Wednesday.

(Senator Tobey (Rep.), New Hampshire, jumped into the fight today. The Associated Press quoted him as saying "a little group of willful men" was trying "to stab the President in the back." He predicted "Bohlen will be confirmed Monday in an overwhelming vote of confidence in Eisenhower."

(However, Senator McCarthy said that Senator Taft of Ohio, the G.O.P. Senate leader, had agreed at his request to put off a vote on Bohlen's nomination until Wednesday. Asked about this, Taft said he had agreed not to insist on a vote Monday if any Senators had not had a chance to say all they wanted to, but not necessarily to defer a vote until Wednesday.)

Dulles told reporters yesterday: "I did not find in the FBI reports and summary (on Bohlen) any facts indicating that Mr. Bohlen might be a security or loyalty risk."

The Secretary seemed to have the support of Senator Wiley (Rep.), Wisconsin, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, although this was not altogether clear. Wiley was present at the Secretary's press conference, sitting at Dulles's right.

The Foreign Relations Committee voted 15-0 on Wednesday to recommend Bohlen's confirmation. Asked if the committee would reconsider its action, in view of the new attacks on Bohlen, Wiley said yesterday that would depend on the committee but that he expected the nomination to go before the Senate Monday as scheduled.

Dulles Denies Overriding Aid.

Dulles flatly denied allegations by McCarthy and McCarran that he had approved Bohlen for the Moscow post over objections by R. W. Scott McLeod, the State Department's security officer, whom Dulles himself only recently appointed.

McLeod is a former Federal Bureau of Investigation agent who was serving as administrative assistant to Senator Bridges (Rep.), New Hampshire, when Dulles recruited him for the State Department. Both Bridges and McCarthy praised McLeod's appointment when it was announced.

Dulles said there is no basis whatever for statements that he and McLeod differed on Bohlen. McLeod did not oppose Bohlen's nomination, the Secretary declared. The security officer made no evaluation at all of the FBI reports on Bohlen, Dulles said.

The Secretary also denied reports that McLeod has threatened to resign over the Bohlen case. He and McLeod are working together in complete harmony.

NEW TRAFFIC LAW TO SOLVE 90 PCT. OF PROBLEM, SAYS C. OF C. SPONSOR

Edwin M. Clark Gratified by Passage, Urges Enactment of Those Sections Eliminated by Amendments.

Passage of the master traffic control plan by the Board of Aldermen will solve "about 90 per cent" of the traffic problems the plan is designed to cope with, Edwin M. Clark, chairman of a Chamber of Commerce committee which sponsored the project, said today.

The plan was approved by the aldermen yesterday by a vote of 25 to 1. Clark said he has been told by city officials that it will take 60 to 90 days to put the new traffic ordinance into full effect, following its approval by Mayor Joseph M. Darst.

New traffic signs must be purchased and installed to mark the large number of additional one-way and limited-parking streets the ordinance creates.

Praises Approval.

In a statement, Clark praised approval of the plan, which he said "will provide major relief for traffic conditions in the city." Some parts of the plan were eliminated he pointed out, "and must be placed in effect at some future date if the plan is to be 100 per cent effective."

However, he added, "as passed, the plan will do about 90 per cent of the job."

Clark urged formation of a small committee of city officials, members of the Board of Aldermen and "civic-minded business men" to study effects of the plan and its enforcement. The committee, he added, "should continuously study traffic conditions in order to make recommendations to the Board of Aldermen from time to time to further improve conditions in our city."

More Parking Space.

Before the plan is put into effect, Clark said, additional parking space will be provided on the riverfront parking lot, to insure as many legal parking spaces downtown as existed before enactment of the ordinance.

Inclusion in any future city bond issue of funds for a city-wide system of traffic control stop lights was urged by Clark, who is president of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Such a traffic control system of synchronized lights was proposed in the original report of the Chamber of Commerce committee, but is not included in the present plan.

Clark also said county officials and the county Chamber of Commerce "will be contacted immediately" concerning extension of the plan into the county. He praised St. Louis newspapers for "the intelligent and constructive way" in which the traffic control problem was presented.

In another statement, Howard F. Baer, vice chairman of the Chamber's board of directors, expressed keen gratification that the plan had been approved.

'Real Stepping Stone.'

"This action, the Chamber feels, constitutes a real stepping stone in the solution of many of our problems—because if we break this log jam, other things that need to be done can be done with no greater difficulty and probably less," Baer stated.

As approved by the aldermen, the bill prohibits all daytime parking in the downtown area and forbids loading and unloading of trucks in that section from 4 to 6 p.m.

It creates a system of one-way streets in the downtown business districts and in some outlying neighborhoods, and restricts parking on the side of the heavier traffic on a number of major arteries leading out of the downtown area. Some major north-south streets would be similarly affected.

CIVIL DEFENSE ONLY 15 PCT. PREPARED, HIGH OFFICIAL SAYS

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—Civil defense is only about 15 per cent prepared to cope with an air attack, says the executive assistant civil defense administrator, Col. Justice Chambers adds that "a lot of progress has been made and I think that within the next six months we may be up to 50 per cent.

Chambers spoke last night on a recorded Columbia Broadcasting System program, "Bomb Target, U.S.A." He said civil defense worker enrollment has climbed from 1,500,000 to 4,000,000 in the past year.

Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, also spoke, saying: "The Soviet Union now has nearly 1000 bombers that on one-way trips can reach all important targets within the United States from bases behind the Iron Curtain."

Eisenhower Golfing Again.

WASHINGTON, March 21 (UP) President Eisenhower went to exclusive Burning Tree Country Club today for another round of golf. He left the White House at 9:40 a.m., his earliest start for what is becoming a regular Saturday tour of the fairways.

BOOST IN TRUMAN DEFENSE BUDGET APPEARS RULED OUT BY PRESIDENT

Belief Based on Statement by Wilson — Secretary Says He Thinks Spending and Manpower Can Be Cut.

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP) —The Eisenhower Administration apparently has turned thumbs down on proposals for a sizable increase in former President Truman's $46,296,000,000 military spending program.

Informed members of Congress interpreted Secretary of Defense Wilson's statement yesterday—that there will be no boost in the Truman defense budget—as ruling out recommendations left on President Eisenhower's desk when Truman left the White House.

As described by the members of Congress, these recommendations involved a several billion-dollar boost in defense spending in the two years beginning July 1. Their disclosure recently to a group of congressional White House visitors caused some leaders to comment publicly at the time that the military picture was "grim."

The National Security Council is reported to have approved the proposed additions, but Truman was said to have taken no action on them in his final days in office, leaving the decision to Eisenhower.

Purpose of Increase.

Members of Congress said it was their understanding the added money would be used to cancel orders to slow up production of particularly critical items, such as the new B-52 jet bombers.

Wilson did not discuss these recommendations at his press conference yesterday nor did he view the military picture as particularly grim.

He said he wished the country were better prepared than it is, but he commented: "I don't think any of us should lay awake nights for fear we are going to be blasted into eternity tomorrow morning." Still, he added, it might be well to "keep in a reasonable position to meet the Maker."

Wilson said he believed reductions could be made in manpower and spending without weakening combat strength. He forecast a reduction by July 1 of the 3,500,000 persons now in uniform.

Eisenhower has said in the past that the best defense force may not necessarily be the largest. The President told his press conference Thursday that the nation could not afford to reduce its combat strength, but savings could be made in administrative costs.

Hopes for Draft Cut.

Wilson disclosed that the monthly rate of defense spending had been frozen at the January level of nearly four billion dollars, adding that he hopes the rate would not go up. He said also he hoped draft calls, now running about 53,000 a month, could be reduced.

It seemed apparent from Wilson's talk about spending cuts that no huge new outlays for atomic defenses are in the works—indicating he sees no ominous developments that might force the United States into expensive girding for atomic attack.

He said he had heard of a study prepared by the Massachusttts Institute of Technology which put the cost of an atomic defense net at 16 to 20 billion dollars. He said it was under review but he expected no early action.

Wilson said there was no change in the military posture of Russia, as a result of Joseph Stalin's death and succession by Premier Georgi Malenkov, that would call for revision of Administration plans to cut defense spending.

Wilson has begun to relax the bar he clamped on all new military construction last month, it was learned today. The Army disclosed that it has been given permission to go ahead with $44,381,500 worth of construction at 19 posts within the United States and at certain bases in Alaska.

He said that the reduction of the total number of men and women in uniform would be confined to divisions and military units in the homeland. Units on the fighting fronts would be maintained at full strength and with full equipment, he said.

Wilson said he had called on his experience as head of General Motors to help him arrive at the conclusion that it was uneconomical to train men to use equipment not yet produced. He said both manpower and production goals could be rescheduled without affecting fighting efficiency.

TYING UP PHONE PARTY LINE VOTED CRIME IN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N.Y., March 21 (AP) —It will be a crime for a user of a party telephone line to refuse to give up the circuit in an emergency, if Gov. Thomas E. Dewey agrees with the legislature's action.

The Senate gave final legislative approval yesterday to a bill to make such an action malicious mischief. It would be a crime also to obtain use of a line by stating falsely that it was needed in an emergency.

For violation of either provision the maximum sentence would be two years in prison.

MALENKOV SPEECHES FAIL TO GIVE U.S. 'ANY GREAT COMFORT,' DULLES SAYS

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP) SECRETARY OF STATE JOHN FOSTER DULLES said yesteray the Government has evaluated the speeches of Soviet Premier Malenkov and does not "receive any great comfort" from them.

Furthermore, Dulles said the United States has not had any overtures from the Soviet government through diplomatic channels.

Asked at his news conference whether the United States had made any overtures to Russia or contemplated making any, he said he would prefer not to answer that question. He said if he got the habit of answering inquiries like that he might have to lie to the reporters some day.

His answer apparently meant that if the United States ever undertakes to make inquiries through diplomatic channels Dulles will take precautions to keep them secret.

REDS CAPTURE AMERICAN YACHT NEAR HONG KONG

HONG KONG, March 21 (UP) —A Chinese Communist gunboat captured an American yacht in territorial waters just west of Hong Kong tonight, the British Royal Navy reported.

The vessel was believed to be the yacht Kert, which belonged to former United Press correspondent Richard Applegate.

Applegate had started to sail for the Portugese port of Macao early in the morning. The Royal Navy said the craft was last sighted at 5:35 p.m. being towed by a Communist gunboat into Lap Sap Mei island five miles southwest of Hong Kong.

The announcement said the Red gunboat took the yacht at 4:30 p.m.

Known to have been planning to make the trip with Applegate were American merchant marine Capt. Ben Krasner and Don Dixon, a correspondent for the International News Service.

American officials here said they had been notified on the reported incident but said "We'll just have to await developments."

WILSON SAYS HE IS RID OF MOST OF HIS G.M. STOCK

WASHINGTON, March 21 (UP) — Charles E. Wilson has just about finished getting rid of the General Motors Corp. stock he promised Congress he would shed when he was confirmed as Secretary of Defense.

Wilson said he would dump his $2,500,000 holdings by April 1 and told reporters yesterday that most of it already is gone.

But he did not say what he has done with it, although he denied it was picked up by his friend, Radio-Television Star Arthur Godfrey.

GIVING KHRUSCHEV SECRETARY'S POST SEEN AS POSSIBLE SIGNAL FOR PURGE

Prime Minister May Be Finding He Must Get Rid of Group Urging Progress 'Toward Communism.'

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY

MOSCOW, March 21 (AP)—Prime Minister Georgi M. Malenkov, new chief of the Soviet government, has resigned his post as secretary of the Russian Communist party's powerful Central Committee. A five-man secretariat, headed by former Ukranian party boss Nikita S. Khruschev takes over.

The change was announced today by Pravda, the party's newspaper. It said a plenary session of the Central Committee accepted Malenkov's resignation March 14.

The announcement made it clear that the 58-year-old Khrushchev, who gained a reputation for firm policies in the Ukraine, will devote his full time to the task of administering the party. He will operate under the leadership of the committee's 10-member presidium, which is still headed by Malenkov.

The new set-up will allow Malenkov to concentrate full attention on his post as Prime Minister.

Post Apparently Abolished.

No mention was made today of the position of general secretary of the party and it appeared this formal post — held for many years by Joseph Stalin — has been abolished for some time. The post was not listed at the time of Stalin's funeral. Nor was it mentioned last October, when a 10-man secretariat was elected. Then Stalin's name simply appeared at the top of the list of secretaries.

The four other members of the new streamlined secretariat were listed today — probably in their order of importance—as:

Mikhail Suslov, 51, former party leader in the North Caucasus and Lithuanian republic and recently editor-in-chief of Pravda.

Peter Pospelov, ex-Pravda editor who long headed the Marx-Engels-Lenin Institute as a leading theoretician of the Red party.

Nikolai Shatalin, recently a candidate to the secretariat.

Semyon Ignatiev, 49, veteran party worker and former deputy in the Moscow Soviet.

Third Recent Shake-Up.

Today's shake-up in the party secretariat was the third within six months. In addition to the changes in October, a decree by the Malenkov government on March 6 transferred four members to other posts. They were L. I. Brezhnev, M. G. Ignatov, N. Pegov and P. K. Ponomarenko.

The Moscow announcement appeared to explain why Khrushchev was given no ministry in the Malenkov Government although he ranked high enough in the new Kremlin pyramid of power to be listed directly after the five deputy premiers making up the inner cabinet.

Under the one-party Soviet system, control of the Communist organization means control of the government.

Giving up the administrative post does not mean that Malenkov has relinquished control of the party. As chief of the party's presidium, he still is boss.

Actually he has apparently tightened his grip on the organization by placing in command five men who can be considered his lieutenants.

Khrushchev was political commissar of the Red Army of the South when Malenkov was at Stalingrad to hold the party ranks intact before wartime German Nazi blows.

Malenkov may be finding it necessary to put a brake on those in the party who believed the words of Stalin, that there was to be progress "toward Communism." In the current international situation the Soviet leaders are not interested in anything other than the strengthening of the state, and they have been proclaiming this ever since Stalin's death.

New Purge Indicated.

Suslov may well be intrusted now with the job of getting rid of the impatient ones, possibly the last remnants of the "Voznessensky group." These are supporters of the former boss of the state planning commission and member of the Politburo, N. A. Voznessensky, who was bounced out in 1949 and had not been heard from since.

Early this year, through the columns of Pravda, Suslov launched an attack on economists accused of having been apologists

Party Advances Premier Obviously With Moscow's Approval; Power Not So Great as Gottwald's.

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA, March 21 (AP)—Antonin Zapotocky, 68-year-old former Nazi concentration camp trusty wanted by the Dutch on war crimes charges, was elected Communist president of Czechoslovakia today.

The Prague radio announced the rubber-stamp Czech Parliament voted unanimously 271 to 0 to put the one-time trade union leader in the seat vacated just a week ago today by the death of President Klement Gottwald. Gottwald, 56, caught a fatal cold at the funeral of Joseph Stalin in Moscow, according to Communist announcements.

The deputies, summoned only yesterday to a session to elect a president, learned only after they got into the hall who was to be the nominee.

Then it was announced the Central Committee of the Communist Party and the Communist-dominated National Front proposed Zapotocky, a life-long revolutionary and union boss. The announcement by Deputy Prime Minister Vilem Siroky was greeted by loud cheers, and Zapotocky was sworn in within 15 minutes.

In the opinion of observers in Vienna, Zapotocky is the only Communist still capable of keeping Czecohslovakia's freedom-loving workers in subjection.

The Czech central committee also proposed to Zapotocky that Vilem Siroky be the new premier. Action on this appointment has not been annuonced.

The Prague radio also announced that the Central Committee had appointed Antonin Novotny to head the party secretariat, a job formerly held by Gottwald. Novotny was made a member of the eight-man Politburo in December 1951. The broadcast disclosed to the outside world for the first time that he has been a vice premier, and said he would keep that job.

Zapotocky has been premier since shortly after the Communists seized power in February 1948 by threatening Eduard Benes, the ailing and aging president, with bloodshed and forcing him to agree to an all-Communist cabinet.

In the succeeding general elections in June, Premier Gottwald was made president, and Zapotocky stepped up from vice premier to premier. He had been considered the most likely choice to succeed Gottwald as president, though there had been speculation that Gottwald's power might be split up four ways and a figure head president chosen.

Siroky, 50, has been vice premier. Like Zapotocky, Siroky helped organize the Communist party in Czechoslovakia. In March 1951, he succeeded the purged Vlado Clementis as foreign minister, but he gave up that job early this year.

It was likely that the Czechs had plenty of advice on a successor to Gottwald from Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, war minister and deputy prime minister of the Soviet Union, who headed the March Winds Buffet St. Louis, Gusts Range Up to 45 M.P.H.

March winds, preceding April's showers and May's flower, whipped St. Louis today with gusts up to 45 miles an hour. The United States Weather Bureau warned of possible tornado activity from Columbia, Mo., to Quincy, Ill., along a line 100 miles north and west of here.

The fairly steady 30-mile-an-hour winds hich buffeted pedestrians in downtown St. Louis were "unusually strong" for this time of year, Assistant Meteorologist A. A. Rausch said. In the past, however, March has brought winds up to 57 miles an hour, with gusts up to 82.

Rausch said the brisk winds were due to a low pressure area centered over southeastern Nebraska and moving eastward, kicking up dust and bringing thunder squalls. The low pressure area should reach St. Louis about 7 p.m. today, he said.

A special bulletin from the District Weather Bureau at Kansas City said tornadoes were possible along a 100-mile wide path from Columbia to Quincy from mid-afternoon to 7 p.m.

Damage Suit Witness Prays to God For Truth; Judge Declares Mistrial

CLEVELAND, March 21 (UP)— A witness in a $100,000 damage suit testified today she "prayed to God for the truth." The judge granted a defense motion for a mistrial.

Mrs. Dorothy Kerfin, 37 years old, was a witness for Joseph DiLello in his suit against the Cleveland Transit System stemming from a collision between a streetcar and his automobile in 1950.

When she got on the stand today she said "Last night I prayed to God that I would know what the truth is."

Transit attorneys then moved for a mistrial and Judge Felix Matia granted it.

RUSSIANS BREAK INTO PRAISE OF U.S. AND BRITAIN AS ALLIES IN WAR

Moscow Radio Almost Lyrical About Old Partnership, Says Co-operation in Peace Is Soviet Desire.

LONDON, March 21 (AP)—The Moscow radio broke sharply today with the old Soviet propaganda line and told the world how Russia, Britain and America harmoniously co-operated in winning World War II.

Sometimes in the past the Soviets have talked as though they won the war all by themselves—not only in Europe but in the Far East as well.

Today's broadcast appeared to fall in the pattern of conciliatory statements made by Soviet leaders since the death of Joseph Stalin and the succession of Georgi Malenkov as prime minister.

Today's talk in English by the regular Moscow radio political commentator, Boris Leontyev, went further than most recent utterances, containing surprisingly kind words for the western world.

He started by asserting that "peaceful co-existence of the two systems, the capitalist and the socialist, is perhaps one of the most crucial issues of our time." Then he insisted that Soviet statesmen have always emphasized that such co-operation is possible and what's more it has been confirmed by history.

Trade With West.

Leontyev cited trade with the Western world before the last war and then became almost lyrical in telling how the West co-operated as allies in the last war.

"As can be seen the possibility of co-operation on a mutually advantageous business foundation has been proved in practice again and again over the years," he continued. The speaker said such peaceful co-existence is possible on the basis of non-interference in internal affairs of other states. He added:

"The Soviet Union has never had and does not have any intention of interfering in the affairs of the capitalist countries."

Then, expanding on the idea of collaboration, the commentator said:

"The possibility of co-operation was manifested . . . vividly during the war against the Fascist states. The Soviet Union, the U.S.A. and Britain harmoniously co-operated in that war as allies, helping each other and co-ordinating their military efforts. This co-operation had splendid results—a common victory over the enemy."

Quotes Stalin.

Leontyev resurrected Stalin's remark that "any idea that revolution could be exported to other countries by force is nonsense and that revolution was the business of the people's themselves in these countries."

Stalin also said the opposite on occasion.

The commentator also quoted Malenkov's recent "peace" speeches and concluded:

"Business co-operation and peaceful competition between states with different systems is the desire of the Soviet government and the Soviet people. And it is obvious that all peoples want this. The Governments must take into account the will of the peoples and fulfill their desire for peace and co-operation."

Gesture to Britain.

The commentary added to mounting indications that a "peace offensive" is well under way in the Soviet Union. It followed a Kremlin promise of immediate action toward freeing British civilian prisoners in North Korea.

The promise was made by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov and announced last night by the British Foreign Office. The Foreign Office warned against premature optimism.

The Soviet moves followed two other developments that foreign diplomats in Moscow said could have a profound impact on world peace. These were:

1. The proposal by Gen. Vassily Chuikov, Soviet commander in Germany, for British - Russian talks to avoid future East-West air incidents. The Russian general surprised the West by expressing regret over the death of seven British airmen in a Lincoln bomber shot down by Soviet MIGs in Germany.

2. President Eisenhower's statement last Thursday that the United States always would go half way toward any Soviet attempt to settle world issues.

Chances for Meeting.

Moscow dispatches said some neutral diplomats in the Russian capital commenting on President Eisenhower's apparent willingness to meet Soviet leaders, predicted if preliminary details were handled carefully by both sides there were good chances for such a meeting.

Moscow sources felt that Malenkov would look favorably on a meeting with Eisenhower to settle some of the controversial issues that have been threatening world peace.

Observers also have noted that the Soviet press has issued no denunciations of Eisenhower and that such phrases as "American warmongers" and "imperialist" appear far less often.

Despite eastern zone threats of dire consequences for Red-encircled Berlin if the West German parliament ratified the Allied-Bonn peace contract and European army treaty, there was little strong Communist reaction to Thursday's lower house vote of approval.

The Soviet promise of action in the case of nine British civilians and one Irish missionary held in North Korea seemed of special significance. Previous British appeals on behalf of the group were ignored by the late Prime Minister Stalin's Kremlin administration.

Russian Promise.

The Foreign Office said the promise was made in a note delivered here Wednesday that declared:

"The Soviet Foreign Ministry will take up the matter with the Korean People's Democratic Republic and will also take the necessary steps in order that this question may find an affirmative solution."

The British group includes three diplomats, among them, Vyvian Holt, former British minister in Seoul. The others were identified by the foreign office as:

George Blake, vice consul; Norman Philip Owen, legation clerk; Bishop Cecil Cooper, bishop of Korea; Father Hunt, Father Lee and Sister Mary Clare, all of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel; Philip Dean, correspondent for the London Observer, and Father Quinlan of Ireland.

"We welcome this helpful Soviet action," a Foreign Office spokesman said, "but it is too early to suggest that it is an indication of better things. One swallow does not make a summer."

Grim Mementoes at Plane Crash Scene

5 MIGS DOWNED AND 7 DAMAGED IN NORTH KOREA

Two Americans Become Double Aces, With 10 Kills Each to Credit — Little Ground Action.

SEOUL, March 21 (AP)—Allied Sabre jets today shot down five Communist MIGs and damaged seven others over North Korea.

Two American pilots downed their tenth MIG and became double aces. Capt. Manuel Fernandez Jr. of Miami, Fla., and Capt. Harold E. Fischer Jr. of Swea City, Ia., each raised his MIG destruction score to 10, the Fifth Air Force said.

Fernandez shot down two MIGs this afternoon while Fischer shot down one.

On the ground, there were only sporadic clashes between mud-caked soldiers as steady rain soaked the 155-mile battlefront until near dawn.

Allied fighter bombers flew through clearing skies to strafe and bomb the Communist front and just behind the Red lines.

Twenty American Superfortresses blasted Red troop and supply centers in North Korea in darkness. Seven of the B-29s bombed targets southeast of Pyongyang and six others hit north of the Red capital.

The Fifth Air Force announced that last week's air battles resulted in five MIGs downed, one probably downed and two more Thunderjets and a propeller-driven Marine Skyraider were lost to other causes.

The Eighth Army reported only three small Communist probing assaults on the battleline last night and early this morning.

Two Allied patrols clashed briefly in rainy fights with the Reds. An American patrol killed or wounded a dozen Chinese near Bunker Hill on the western front and a similar patrol northeast of Kumwha on the central front left 12 known Communist dead.

VOICE CANCELS CONTRACTS FOR 2 TRANSMITTERS

WASHINGTON, March 21 (UP)—Senator Mundt said today Senate investigators have saved the taxpayers "many millions" by prompting the Voice of America to cancel contracts for two radio transmitters.

The South Dakota Republican said the stations were being built in "improper places" because of "inadequate and faulty engineering advice."

Mundt said the action indicates Senator McCarthy's investigating subcommittee "up to now has saved the taxpayers many millions."

McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, praised the move as a sign Dr. Robert L. Johnson, new head of the State Department's international information administration, "is going to bring order out of previously-existing chaos in the engineering and planning of stations."

The transmitters are "Baker East" near Wilmington, N.C., and "Baker West" near Seattle, Wash. Lewis E. McKesson, former Voice engineer, testified that these sites were in the magnetic storm area which would interfere with broadcasts.

could be seen within the burning portion of the fuselage that remained intact. The wreckage of the plane was scattered over a quarter-mile radius in the soft, newly-plowed field where it fell.

William Silva and his wife, Wilma, said big chunks of ice fell to the ground moments after the plane hit a small hill on the edge of a pasture and burst into flames.

"At about 6:30 p.m. (Pacific standard time) my wife heard the plane fly over," Silva said. "She ran to the window and saw it flash by very low overhead. I ran out into the back yard and saw it was flying perpendicular to the ground about 2000 yards away.

"Then a wing caught on the ground and seemed to crumble. There was a big explosion. I ran into the front yard and there was debris falling all over. I noticed large chunks of ice dropping all over." He said the ice was molded in the shape of the trailing edge of the wing.

Defrosters May Have Failed.

Air Force officers and CAA experts were investigating the possibility that the plane's defrosters failed and allowed ice to cover ailerons or stabilizer and rudder. Such icing would leave the controls locked and immobile.

All the plane's four engines were running when he saw it dive into the ground, Silva said.

"I found three persons who looked alive, one still had a pulse and we covered them up so they would not suffer from shock," he said.

(It first was reported that three persons apparently survived but they were pronounced dead on arrival at nearby Fairmont hospital.)

A rumor that the DC-4 might be carrying "secret cargo" was quickly denied by the Air Force.

Ambulances took the victims to nearby hospital. Mucky fields and poor roads in the crash area hampered efforts to evacuate bodies and fight the fire.

Little was left of the plane when the flames subsided, but one large section of the tail and rear fuselage remained—stark-white against the dark, wet fields.

Transocean Air Lines is the world's largest non-scheduled carrier. Its headquarters are in Oakland. Transocean planes have flown thousands of military personnel and tons of supplies from the west coast to Korea.

Decoto is the same site of a United Air Lines plane crash Aug. 24, 1951, which killed 50 passengers in California's worst air disaster. That plane, too, was about to land.

Wilson enlisted in October 1951, after being graduated from Lincoln High School in East St. Louis. Wilson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Wilson.

FAMILY OF 5 FOUND LIVING IN HOG HOUSE ON INDIANA ESTATE

INDIANAPOLIS, March 21 (UP)—Court assistance was promised today for a 30-year-old farm hand and his wife and three children found living in a hog house on an Indianapolis estate.

Juvenile court officials said they would help find a better dwelling for the parents whose only crime was "being poor and unable to look out for themselves."

Harold Wilburn and his wife, Margie, 24, an expectant mother, were arraigned on a child neglect charge when a deputy justice of the peace notified authorities he saw two small children playing in a hog pen among the sows.

The deputy said he entered the 300-acre farm of a construction firm executive to serve legal papers and was shocked to find a family living in the 9-by-14-foot converted pig pen which was without water or plumbing.

Judge Harold N. Fields of juvenile court ordered the children, aged 4, 2 and 1, to be placed in a children's home until other quarters could be obtained. The parents were arraigned on child neglect charges, but later were released.

GEN. CLARK VISITS BAO DAI, VIET NAM'S CHIEF OF STATE

SAIGON, Indochina, March 21 (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark had a 35-minute talk with chief of state Bao Dai yesterday on Viet Nam's governmental and defense problems.

The United Nations commander flew aboard the plane of French Gen. Raoul Salan to the residence of Bao Dai at Dalat in the mountains of southeast Indochina. After his talk with Bao Dai, Gen. Clark watched Viet Nam troops being trained at Dalat put on a shooting exhibition.

Clark was a dinner guest of Salan in Saigon last night.

TITO ENDS LONDON VISIT WITH PLEDGE OF BRITISH HELP

Gets Assurance Britain Will Stand by Yugoslavia in Resisting Aggression.

LONDON, March 21 (AP) — Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz ended his visit to Britain today, leaving for Yugoslavia with a British pledge to stand by his Communist Balkan state in resisting aggression.

The Red dictator who broke with Stalin's Russia in 1948 stood stiffly at attention as the London port's launch Nore drew away from Westminster pier. He wore full uniform with a light gray coat with scarlet lapels.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was present to bid him goodby. A naval guard of honor presented arms as the Yugoslav President stepped from his bulletproof limousine and moved toward the launch.

Down the Thames, at Greenwich, Tito transferred from the launch to the Yugoslav naval training ship Galeb (Seagull), which brought him here for his week-long visit. As the Galeb slipped down the river on the way home, Tito waved to crowds lining the river.

British Communique.

Tito's five-day visit formally ended last night with a communique from 10 Downing street, Prime Minister Churchill's residence.

The communique contained no iron-clad treaty and there was no formal pact, but the British Government clearly expressed itself with the words:

"The two governments declare their common interest in resistance to aggression and in the preservation of national independence.

"They undertook to work closely together and with other freedom-loving nations to defend peace. They were in full agreement that in the event of aggression in Europe the resulting conflict could hardly remain local in character."

In diplomatic language this is tantamount to a statement that Britain would step in in event of an attack on Yugoslavia.

Visit Called Successful.

Before he left, Tito said:

"During our stay in Great Britain we have become even more convinced that the collaboration between our two countries will greatly benefit both our peoples and promote the safeguarding of peace in Europe. In the course of direct contact and talks with the British Government what we have hoped for has been attained.

"We have reached full agreement with regard to the major problems concerning Great Britain and Yugoslavia as well as the situation in Europe in general. I send my warm greetings to the courageous people of Britain."

He turned to Eden and said, "I hope I will see you again in Yugoslavia." Eden replied: "It has gone very well."

Police river launches patroled the Thames and hundreds of police guarded the pier area, continuing the extraordinary precautions taken to assure that no attempt would be made here on the life of the man the Soviet world hates.

A crowd of several hundred spectators was allowed to within 100 yards of the pierhead on either side. Many waved in farewell to the one-time partisan leader.

ROBERTS HEARING ENDS, COMMITTEE STUDIES EVIDENCE

60 Witnesses Testify in Inquiry on G.O.P. Chairman—Report Due Next Wednesday.

By ROY J. HARRIS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

TOPEKA, Kan., March 21—A joint legislative committee today pondered evidence on whether Republican National Chairman C. Wesley Roberts lobbied illegally in 1951 when he received $11,000 for promoting sale of a hospital building to the State of Kansas for $110,000.

The nine-man investigating group heard the last of nearly 60 witnesses yesterday and began preparation of its report to the Legislature, due not later than next Wednesday. Because of the short time allowed in the investigation resolution, the committee worked under heavy pressure throughout the nine-day hearing, with both day-long and evening sessions.

Witnesses yesterday included several more of the 23 members of the House Ways and Means Committee in the 1951 session, which approved a bill to appropriate the $110,000 for purchase from the Ancient Order of United Workmen, a fraternal insurance company, of a building it built in 1928 on grounds of the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Norton.

Former Kansas G.O.P. Deal.

Roberts, who was Republican state chairman until August, 1950, was hired by the insurance company early in the 1951 session as a "public relations counselor" to promote the deal. Edgar C. Bennett, head of the firm, testified last week Roberts had the "certain type of talent" needed.

One of the 1951 committee members, Fred S. Beatty, a Frankfort (Kan.) cattleman, said he was not against buying the structure, but favored holding out for not more than $100,000.

However, Beatty and other committee members were given to understand, he testified, that "we had to grab the building while we could, because the company's offer was good only for a limited time."

This surprised Beatty, because he had been told a few weeks earlier by Dr. C. F. Taylor, superintendent of the Norton institution, that there was "no hurry" about buying it and moreover that it could be had for around $100,000 the witness continued.

Ever Pay 'First Price.'

L. A. Johnson, a member of the investigating committee and also a cattleman, asked Beatty: "You've never been accused of paying the first price asked in a cattle deal, have you?"

Beatty grinned and replied: "No, sir, and that's why I favored holding out for $100,000."

He said Roberts never spoke to him about the transaction, but he thought he had heard the politician's name mentioned. Roberts has denied lobbying—that is, trying to influence legislators directly, but said he did not consider it lobbying to talk up the deal to other state officials.

One of the last witnesses was Robert H. Jennison, a member of the 1951 Ways and Means Committee and chairman of the present investigating committee.

He testified that had he known such a large fee was being paid he would have been "interested in learning the circumstances surrounding it."

Refuses to Answer Question.

Responding to the following question proposed by attorneys for A.O.U.W.: "In your judgment would payment of a fee reduce the value of the building to the State of Kansas?" Jennison tartly refused to answer, describing the question as of the "have-you-stopped-beating-your-wife" type.

He said he recalled no discussion of whether the state already owned the building and that he did not know the appropriation bill had anything to do with terminating the company's agreement with the state, under which the A.O.U.W could put patients in the hospital for only $1 a day.

The question of state ownership of the building will be settled in court rather than by the investigation committee as a result of a recovery suit against the insurance company, filed Wednesday by Kansas Attorney General Harold R. Fatzer.

Jail for Washington Jaywalkers.

He sentenced two men to five days in jail for crossing a street against a red light despite a policemen's shouted warnings.

2,500,000 Illiterates Over Age of 10 In U.S., Columbia U. Study Finds

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—A Columbia University Press publication out today says there are 2,500,000 illiterates more than 10 years old in the United States.

The book—"The Uneducated," by Drs. Eli Ginzberg and Douglas W. Bray—recommends a new formula for federal grant-in-aid programs to help wipe out the illiteracy.

Ginzberg and Bray told a press conference yesterday that the book contains the first findings of a Conservation of Human Resources project initiated three years ago by President Eisenhower when he was president of Columbia.

The book reports that illiteracy is at its worst in some of the Southern states, southern Texas and parts of New Mexico and Arizona. It recommends that Alabama, South Carolina and some other states get more aid and questions whether New York needs the federal aid it now receives. It proposes also that the military service accept men deficient in schooling and give them special training programs.

The book says there is a direct relationship between the illiteracy problem and the cold war. It says Russia has made strides in eradicating illiteracy and uses this progress as a major propaganda weapon while calling world attention to illiteracy in the United States.

Proceeds of the book will go to the Conservation of Human Resources project, which is now supported by contributions from large companies, the New York Community Trust and the Ford Foundation.

U.N. GROUP VOTES FURTHER STUDY OF DISARMAMENT

U.S. Delegate Says Soviets Have Not Shown There Is Substance to Peace Talk.

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., March 21—The 60-nation United Nations oPlitical Committee today approved a resolution sponsored by the United States and 13 other countries instructing the U.N. Disarmament Commission to continue its study of the balanced reduction of all armed forces and armaments, elimination of major weapons of mass destruction, including bacteriological, and effective international control to insure the prohibition of atomic weapons and the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes only. The 12-nation commission was instructed to report not later than next Sept. 1.

The resolution was adopted by vote of 50 to the five votes of the Soviet bloc after the protracted debate.

A Russian resolution, condemning Western powers for attempting espionage by demanding a world arms inventory was defeated 41 to 5 with 14 abstentions.

'Words of Peace' Discounted.

The vote came after Ernest A. Gross, American delegate, told the committee that the Soviet Union had not demnostrated during world disarmament debate that there was substance behind the "words of peace" from Russian Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Expressing disappointment that Valerian A. Zorin, Soviet delegate, had failed to give explicit replies to inquires about Russian willingness to discuss disarmament constructively at this time, Gross directed this plea to the Russian:

"Will the Soviet delegation seek the authority of its government to work beside us in this committee and in the Disarmament Commission for a real reduction of arms and in the cause of international peace?"

Gross declared:

"We look to the future. We hope that the past will bury the false propaganda, the hate campaigns and the monstrous lies that characterize the conduct of the Soviet government."

Not Rhetoric, Gross Says.

Gross said he did not ask the questions as a "rhetorical exercise," but to learn "if the new leadership is really sincerely interested in the armament discussion."

"We wanted the considered judgment of the Russian delegation, and we have not obtained it," he added.

Gross said, "We think this is the right time for serious discussion. People in the Soviet nations want just a little butter instead of guns. True arms reduction would give it to them, and the people under Soviet control could be certain it did not threaten their security."

He recalled that the U.N. plan for effective atom control, accepted by a majority of the 60 members but rejected by the Soviet Union, had supplied a pattern for the job of arms reduction and the abolition of atomic and bacterial weapons and other instruments of mass destruction.

'Impractical Suggestions.'

The Soviet Union, instead of co-operating in the disarmament debates, has repeated "old, outworn and utterly impractical suggestions" to dismantle war machinery, Gross added. He said Russia wanted to come to a decision on disarmament before finding the way to achieve what the decision sought to accomplish.

"We want a plan to reduce the capacity of the nations of the world to age war providing all nations and the people of the Soviet Union with tangible means of security," Gross said.

Earlier, Zorin said the Soviet delegation agreed with other speakers that there evidently was no difference in the objectives of Russia and Western powers in the disarmament negotiation. He gave no intimation, however, that Moscow intended to soften opposition to the majority plan of procedure.

"There can be no real difference," Zorin said, "if we wish truly to achieve the maintenance of peace and avert a third world war. We must attain a genuine reduction of armaments and prohibit the use of the atom bomb which is plainly a weapon of aggression."

Russian Complaint.

He complained that the United States and Western Allies insisted on "acting from a position of strength" which stimulated the world armaments race. It was the United States who sought to "begin at the wrong end" by calling for an arms inventory before reducing military power," he said. Russia prescribed "the right beginning" by calling for an immediate arms cut and prohibition of atom bombs, he argued.

He described as "absurd" references made by Western spokesmen to "the mystery behind the Iron Curtain." It was clear, he continued, that Russia favored a system whereby nations would supply information on all arms and forces and military bases on foreign territories. Zorin did not say how the information would be verified after disclosure.

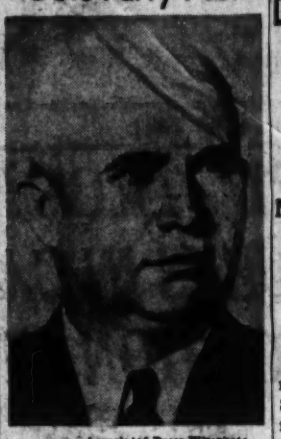

He again avowed Russian willingness to comply with effective "international control and inspection on a continuing basis" but as before he did not amplify the statement by describing the nature of the "international inspection" or evplain the Soviet version of the phrase "on a continuing basis."

The obscure nature of the Soviet proposals would make it possible for a nation to subscribe to "international inspection" by its own nationals attached to a world control agency.

Although Zorin did not yield any Soviet principles previously set forth, the tone of his speech was more conciliatory than the Russian blasts to which U.N. listeners have become accustomed.

He said his delegation, feeling confident that its suggestions were superior to rival proposals, would entertain with serious consideration other plans. He complained that his opposition would not even accept Russian requests to insert in the resolution that disarmament would apply to naval and air forces as well as other military installations.

ZAPOTOCKY NEW PRESIDENT OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Kremlin's official delegation to the Gottwald funeral. It appeared obvious the election of Zapotocky had the Soviet Union's approval. Present at the parliamentary session was Soviet Ambassador Alexander J. Bogomolov.

Westerners in Vienna said they did not expect any change in Czechoslovak policy as a result of Zapotocky's election. He has been a faithful pupil and puppet of Moscow his entire political life.

Soviet policy has included the imprisonment in Prague of Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis on trumped-up spy charges. No free western newspaper correspondent has been resident in Czechoslovakia since the Oatis trial in 1951.

Czechoslovakia also is engaged in a skirmish with the United States over demands for payment for the Thunderjet which two Czech air force MIG-15s shot down over Germany recently.

Although Zapotocky has been chosen to take Gottwald's main job, he still lacks all his predecessor's dictatorial powers. Gottwald also was chairman of the Communist party, and commander-in-chief of the armed forces and police, and as such was the most powerful satellite leader in eastern Europe.

Zapotocky, a former stonecutter, who got only an elementary education in his youth, was born at Zakolny near Kladno in Bohemia, on Dec. 19, 1884. His father, a tailor, was a founder of the Czech Social Democratic party.

The Nazis arrested Zapotocky and put him in a concentration camp when they took over Czechoslovakia in 1939. In camp he became a trusty, and was charged with responsibility for the death of a number of Dutch inmates of the camp. The Dutch Government three times sought his extradition on war crimes charges in 1947, but the Czech Government of the then President Benes refused the requests. Gottwald at the time was Premier.

BRITISH BOMBER ATTACKERS SAID TO BE GERMANS

Newspaper Reports Story Told by Women Employes of Airport at Magdeburg.

BERLIN, March 21 (AP) — A report reached Berlin from the Soviet zone today that the jet fighters which shot down a British bomber March 12 were piloted by Germans.

The Spandauer Volksblatt, a British sector newspaper, said it had learned of the report from East German contacts.

Allied airmen were unable either to confirm or deny that the Russians may be training East German Communist "air police" in flying the MIG-15s.

Until now, western quarters have learned only that the fledgling "air police" of the east zone amounts to about 5000 men and women doing ground crew, tower and general duties at airfields.

Women Lose Jobs.

The Spandauer newspaper said the city of Magdeburg buzzed with talk of the incident, started by two German women employed at the Magdeburg airfield. It said the two women, identified as Helene Dietrich and Gerda Stoltz, were abruptly dismissed from their duties at the airbase for discussing it publicly.

The newspaper said in a dispatch under a Magdeburg dateline:

"Fraulein Dietrich and Stoltz were on duty on the day in question in the tower. They knew that shortly after noon, five fighter planes of the MIG-15 model had taken off for a patrol along the zonal border. They were piloted by Germans, among them former Luftwaffe fighter pilot Guenther Lehmann.

"When the planes landed after their flight, Helene Dietrich accompanied the airfield duty Oberkommissar as stenographer assistant to the field.

"'They seem to have shot one down,' she said later to her colleague who had remained in the radio cabin. 'I could see how Oberkommissar Henne stood stiff for a while, but then patted Ennig and Lehmann on the shoulders and shook their hands in congratulations.'

'Air Police, Not Russians.'

"When at night the shooting of the Lincoln bomber became known in Magdeburg, Helene Dietrich told her family at home: 'That was the air police, not the Russians.'"

The West Berlin anti-Communist underground, "fighting group against inhumanity," said the report that Germans are flying Soviet jets is news to them.

Allied officials noted a new speed in the handling of German problems by Moscow since Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov took over.

They said Soviet Gen. Vassily Chuikov's proposal for a Russian-British meeting to see if there is some way to avoid such air incidents in the future must bear Moscow's stamp, because of its far-reaching policy implications.

Informed quarters reported the western Allied high commissioners will meet in Berlin next Saturday to discuss a possible four-power parley on air safety over Germany.

SYMINGTON SAYS DEMOCRATS BACK EISENHOWER MORE THAN G.O.P. DOES

Senator, Here for Party Breakfast to 'Kick Off' City Election Campaign, Has Praise for Tucker.

The Democrats in Washington are giving more support to President Eisenhower than his own party, United States Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, said here today.

"That shows we are Americans," Symington, a St. Louisan who returned for a short visit, declared at a breakfast to "kick off" the campaign of Democratic candidates for the April 7 municipal election.

"I supported every one of the things our President wanted except one, and I just couldn't support that fellow Cole," he said. His reference was to Albert M. Cole, new Federal Housing Administrator, who had been criticized as a long-time foe of public housing.

Republican Troubles.

In a facetious crack at the Republican Administration, Symington said: "We are finding out in Washington that it's a little harder to stop the Korean war than some people apparently thought.

"We're finding out that it's harder to cut taxes than some people apparently thought."

Missouri's new senator said: "Everyday I'm in Washington I see the policies and principles of the Democratic party, as outlined by Presidents Roosevelt and Harry Truman, are the right policies for the future of the United States."

Boost for Tucker.

Directing his attention to the local mayoralty campaign, Symington said the Democratic candidate, Raymond R. Tucker, has "forgotten more about being mayor than the Republican candidate could ever learn in many years if he ever had the chance—which I am sure he won't."

He urged the Democratic City Central Committee members attending the breakfast, held at Hotel Jefferson, to give their full support to Tucker in his contest with Carl G. Stifel, Republican nominee.

Symington said Stifel, so far as he knew, was "a fine fellow and has done a good job as a business man," but does not compare with Tucker in experience for the Mayor's job.

Symington made only a brief allusion to the recent primary, in which Tucker defeated Mark D. Eagleton after a bitter campaign that caused some disharmony in the Democratic party here.

Recalls Own Race.

"I don't know much about the primary, but I felt all the time, regardless of who won, that we would want to keep the city Democratic," he said. "I hope that this city does for Ray Tucker what it did for me.

"I went down to Washington with quite a tribute. Against the Republican trend, St. Louis stood out as a place of what the Democratic party stands for—the party of the people. St. Louis is a Democratic city and is going to stay that way."

Tucker spoke briefly, expressing confidence that he would be elected and promising to be "a credit to the Democratic party." Other party nominees also attended the breakfast, along with Democratic office holders and the central committee members.

Party Harmony.

John J. Dwyer, chairman of the central committee, announced before the breakfast that harmony had been established in the party's ranks and disclosed an agreement made for handling Tucker's campaign.

Dwyer, who had supported Eagleton in the primary, will be chairman of the city-wide campaign for all candidates, including Tucker. Meanwhile, Vincent T. McMahon will continue to head the citizens' committee which backed Tucker in the primary.

Campaign policy will be directed by an executive committee consisting of Dwyer, McMahon, Tucker, City Comptroller Milton Carpenter, who seeks re-election; former Missouri Supreme CCourt Judge James M. Douglas; Israel Treiman, one of Tucker's leaders in the primary, and two aldermen, A. J. Cervantes, Fifteenth ward, and DeWitte T. Lawson, Negro, Nineteenth ward.

John Fabick will be chairman of the Democratic finance committee and Ray Noonan will be campaign treasurer.

CITY 'BALKANIZED' BY DEMOCRATS, STIFEL CHARGES

Mayoral Candidate Urges Removal of Barriers Between St. Louis and Suburbs.

The Democrat administration has "Balkanized" St. Louis, Carl G. Stifel, Republican candidate for Mayor, said last night at a meeting of the Twenty-fourth Ward Regular Republican Organization at the Skaggs Building, 4512 Manchester boulevard.

Stifel said he was referring "to that 'pepperpot' area of southeast Europe known as the Balkan peninsula. Disunion and clash of interests have caused numerous Balkan wars," he pointed out.

He compared St. Louis to the Balkan states, emphasizing that the outlying areas of St. Louis county and the East Side are important to the well-being of St. Louis as a whole.

Assails 'Balkan-Thinking.'

"Unfortunately, the economic and cultural advantages which we in St. Louis should enjoy and share with the people in St. Louis county and the East Side are being denied us by Balkan-thinking on the part of our present city officials.

"With only a faint whisper of protest, the city streetcar system was permitted to pull out of the vast areas of St. Louis county. The Democrat city administration still doesn't seem to care that it now costs a resident of Overland 70 or 80 cents, depending on the bus route, to come into St. Louis and return home."

Stifel said transportation cost such a county resident 20 cents a day at the beginning of the present city administration.

This is one of the causes of our congested streets, he went on. "Worst of all, suburbanites are avoiding any business in St. Louis whenever possible. We in St. Louis need a healthy downtown district, because it pays the biggest portion of our taxes."

Party Does Nothing, He Says.

The Democratic party has whined and whimpered about decentralization, but has done nothing about it, he charged.

Stifel said the solution is to remove some of the barriers between St. Louis and the people who live in its suburbs.

"As your Mayor," he said, "I will work to make it easier for our neighbors to visit our city and bring their business to us. This is our salvation."

Adoption of a new city charter is one of the 19 planks in a Republican platform announced yesterday by Stifel and the party's other candidates who will be on the ticket in the municipal election April 7.

Other Planks.

Other planks included:

A long-range financial program to balance the city budget.

Developing St. Louis as an international water port.

Rehabilitating and improving hospital, clinical and public welfare facilities.

Complete co-operation with Civic Progress Inc., organization composed chiefly of downtown business men to formulate plans for the city's development.

Co-operation of the city and St. Louis county in building and maintaining a consolidated sewer system.

Improving airport, playground and recreational facilities, along with ash and rubbish collections.

Strict enforcement of all ordinances pertaining to milk and restaurant sanitation.

Regulation of smoke and fly ash, and extermination of rats.

The platform also recommended:

"Aid our national and state governments in developing a strong program for the defense of our nation and creating an adequate program for civil defense.

Traffic Relief.

"Utilize all available technical knowledge in the solution of needed traffic relief; to erect underground parking garages and construct express highways, but only by such routes as will not cause unnecessary destruction of thousands of homes and further increase our housing shortage.

"Be constantly alert to the mass transportation problem of our city; to continuously strive for reduced fares and to co-operate with the Metropolitan Board of Freeholders for development of mass transportation facilities.

"Create adequate housing through co-operation with private and public enterprises for the clearance of slum areas.

"Keep St. Louis free from the sinister influence of racketeers, gamblers and traffickers in corruption and vice."

GLENDALE HEARS COMPLAINTS OVER 3 DEATHS IN FIRE

Residents Say Gas Masks and Hand Lights Apparently Didn't Work—New Ones Planned.

Improved gas masks and hand lights will be purchased for the Glendale fire department, Mayor Henry Arendes announced last night following a public hearing at which the department's equipment was criticized.

The hearing, held at Glendale City Hall, 424 North Sappington road, was called to investigate a fire in which three children were burned to death early Thursday.

Complaints of residents of the area that two gas masks and three hand lights apparently failed to function during the fire will be "studied closely" by the police and fire committee of the Glendale Board of Aldermen, Mayor Arendes told the Post-Dispatch.

Fifteen witnesses, most of them neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Paul DeCoster, 924 Dwyer avenue, Glendale, whose three children were killed in the fire, appeared at the hearing, but there was no criticism of the manner in which firemen fought the blaze in the DeCosters' two-story frame house.

Funeral for Four.

An open verdict in the deaths of three children, Andree, 14 years old; Paul Jr., 11, and Patt, 9, was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury at Clayton. Another child, Mary Joan, 16, and the parents escaped from the burning house.

Funeral services for the children and their grandmother, Mrs. Patrick J. Brennan, were held today at Mary Queen of Peace Catholic Church, 690 West Lockwood avenue, Webster Groves, with burial in Calvary Cemetery.

Mrs. Brennan, 81, who was Mrs. DeCoster's mother, died of infirmities of age Thursday at her home, 2625 Oakview terrace, Maplewood, without being told of the tragedy. In addition to Mrs. DeCoster, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Edgar B. James, and three sons, Joseph D., Emmet J. and Clarence A. Brennan.

Testimony that Ewart Ash, a Glendale fireman, told persons at the fire he was unable to use the two gas masks "because they leaked," was given at last night's hearing by two witnesses, Arthur F. Delling, 928 Dwyer, and his brother, William, 930 Dwyer, both of whom helped fight the fire.

Ash attempted to enter a rear bedrom on the second floor, but was forced back by smoke. The body of one of the children was found later in the room, but most witnesses agreed the child probably was dead by the time firemen arrived.

Other witnesses criticized the type of gas mask used, pointing out that the masks were of an all-service type requiring oxygen for proper operation. Ash testified the first mask may have failed to function because of improper adjustment.

Testimony that three hand lights carried on the Glendale fire truck apparently failed to operate was given by Wiliam Delling. He said "the firemen were calling for the lights, but they wouldn't work."

Fire Chief's Testimony.

Glendale Fire Chief Leroy H. McDermott testified it took firemen "not more than three minutes" to reach the blaze after the first call was made at 12:20 p.m. The front of the house, he said, was an "inferno" when firemen arrived.

His account of the time required to reach the fire was corroborated by several witnesses. Other witnesses said they feel the Glendale fire department is too small to cope with large residential fires.

The department, Chief McDermott said, has eight full-time men who work in two four-man shifts. He said size of the department "is probably adequate, when you consider that 90 per cent of our calls are for weed fires and other small fires." Cause of Thursday's fire, he added, has not yet been determined.

KENTON R. CRAVENS

KENTON CRAVENS REPORTED SLATED FOR NEW RFC HEAD

Eisenhower Said to Want St. Louis Banker for Long Job of Liquidating Agency.

Kenton R. Cravens, a vice president and director of Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis, has been approached by the White House to accept appointment as head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, chief Government lending agency, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

However, Cravens, a specialist in loan matters, termed the report "purely speculative" and said he had "no comment whatsoever." An informed source said he is undecided whether to sever business connections here to take the Government post, which pays $17,500 a year.

Cravens, 48 years old, has held two previous government jobs, both in loan capacities. In 1941, he served as a consultant to the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, and in 1942 he was War Loan Administrator, a position aligned with Federal Reserve operations.

A native of Salina, Kans., Cravens formerly lived in Cleveland, O., home of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, who is reported to have suggested Cravens for RFC chairman. In Cleveland, Cravens was vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co.

Cravens has been in St. Louis since 1943, when he became associated with Mercantile Trust Co. He served last year as chairman of the Missouri Citizens for Taft Committee. Mr. and Mrs. Cravens live at 4927 Maryland avenue. They have one daughter, Mrs. William J. Phelan Jr. of St. Louis.

Plans to abolish the RFC now are being perfected by the Republican Administration, and President Eisenhower is reported anxious to obtain Cravens to direct the lengthy job of liquidating the huge agency, which might require two years to complete.

The plan to abolish RFC carries an Administration suggestion to replace the agency with another unit to make loans to small businesses. Under the plan, the Small Defense Plants Administration might also be abolished. Present administrator of the RFC is Harry McDonald.

MRS. EISENHOWER URGES MOTHERS TO BACK RED CROSS

WASHINGTON, March 22 (UP) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower appealed to American mothers today to contribute money and blood to the Red Cross and to see to it that their relatives and neighbors do likewise.

Mrs. Eisenhower received representatives of the American Red Cross at the north portico of the White House. Her appeal was read by Federal Security Administrator Oveta Culp Hobby.

The President's wife said she is "greatly concerned" to learn that a Red Cross drive for $93,000,000 is lagging and "that collection of vitally necessary blood also is far less than the need." She said it is "unthinkable" that the nation should fail the Red Cross.

In her appeal to mothers, Mrs. Eisenhower said she is sure they know that every pint of blood contributed may save the life of a wounded son in Korea. She said they undoubtedly also are aware that gamma globulin, a blood derivative, will be used to fight polio next summer.

But she said mothers perhaps do not realize that serium albumin, another blood derivative, is needed "desperately" by wounded American fighting men in Korea.

7 MEN FINED TOTAL OF $1100 FOR HAVING LOTTERY TICKETS

Seven men were fined a total of $1100 on charges of possession of lottery tickets yesterday by Judge Louis A. Comerford of the Court of Criminal Correction.

A new law, which makes mere possession of a lottery ticket a misdemeanor punishable by a maximum fine of $1000 and one year in the workhouse, is now being challenged before the Missouri Supreme Court.

The men fined yesterday were George Lockett, 44 years old, 755 Baird avenue, $200; Tillman Whaley, 46, 5029 Highland, $100; Andrew Green, 47, 2138A Carr street, $100; Erastus Smith, 32, 3051 Sheridan avenue, $100; Earl Ellis, 56, 1105A North Vandeventer avenue, $100; Andrew Cox, 44, 218 South Twenty-third street, $300, and John Murray, 55, 3106 Lawton boulevard, $200.

SUICIDE VERDICT IN DEATH OF FARMER FOUND SHOT

A coroner's verdict of suicide was returned yesterday in the death of Louis P. Fisher, 52 years old, whose body was found Thursday in his farmhouse near Murphy, about 12 miles south of St. Louis in Jefferson county.

Fisher had been shot in the head. A shotgun was on the floor beside the body. He had been partly paralyzed for 15 years, neighbors said.

His mother, Mrs. Franciska Fisher, 78, was found in a cistern about 10 feet from the house. She was taken to County Hospital where she is in serious condition.

$31,000 IN JEWELS REPORTED STOLEN IN SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

A briefcase containing diamonds and some jewelry valued at $31,000 was stolen from the automobile of Willis Patrick, jewelry salesman of 4133 Magnolia avenue, in Springfield, Ill., he reported to police yesterday.

Patrick said he left his locked car for 10 minutes while he made a business call and returned to find a window smashed and the briefcase and jewelry missing.

He is employed by Gevertz and Co., New York diamond merchants.

Repeat Performance.

NEW YORK, March 21 (UP)—Russell Cornell, 6 years old, caught his finger in a hole in the family kitchen table last night. His parents called the police emergency squad to free him. Just two years ago Russell caught the same finger in the same table. The same emergency squad freed him.

GETS FOUR YEARS IN PRISON FOR REFUSING TO BE INDUCTED

Marvin E. Watkins, Hornersville (Mo.), youth, was sentenced to four years in prison when he pleaded guilty here yesterday of refusing to be inducted into military service.

Watkins, 20 years old, told United States District Judge George H. Moore, who imposed sentence, that he was a conscientious objector, saying the possibility of killing another person was contrary to his beliefs.

Assistant United States Attorney Herbert H. Freer said that Watkins, who belongs to no religious group, had answered an induction call by his draft board at Kennett, Mo., but refused to take oath. The youth did not appeal from the board's refusal to classify him as a conscientious objector, Freer pointed out.

CYRIL CLEMENS'S SON PLACED ON PROBATION

Sammy, 13, Must Quit Playing Bartender; Father Lectured at Delinquency Hearing.

Sammy Clemens of Kirkwood was found delinquent in Juvenile Court at Clayton yesterday and was placed on indefinite probation after a state liquor inspector and a neighbor testified they bought whisky from the 13-year-old relative of Mark Twain in a summer house behind the Clemens home at 841 North Kirkwood road.

Under the finding, by Circuit Judge John A. Witthaus, the boy must report periodically to the probation office at the Children's Building in Clayton, and he must also give up "playing bartender" in the summer house.

Cyril Clemens, father of the boy and president of the International Mark Twain Society, was lectured by Judge Witthaus, who observed that "in this particular case a large part of the delinquency was parental, not juvenile."

Clemens, who has said that the selling of drinks to adult friends of the family was "fun" for his son, disputed a statement by the court that he failed to answer three letters requesting him to appear for discussion of the case with authorities. "We didn't get any letters," Clemens declared belligerently. Told to sit down, he subsided and subsequently apologized.

State Liquor Agent William McFarlane testified he bought two drinks of whisky from Sammy last Feb. 21. A neighbor, who appeared at the hearing at the request of authorities, also testified to purchasing drinks in the Clemens summer house. Sammy took the witness stand briefly and admitted selling drinks, adding that sales were "mostly to friends."

The summer house, which authorities said was equipped as a bar and stocked with liquor, is screened from the street by trees. However, signs near the entrance to the property announced "Dogface Inn," "Percy's Bar," and "Wire-Beer."

BIG DAIRIES JUMP GUN AND CUT MILK A CENT A QUART

Major St. Loius dairies, which usually lower the cost of milk April 1 when prices paid consumers take an automatic drop, jumped the gun today by announcing a 1-cent-a-quart decrease.

Consumers were paying 21 cents a quart for regular milk and a penny more for homogenized. Milk in half-gallon containers was off 2 cents.

A spokesman for the industry said several dairies had planned weekend specials at the new price, but when one company made it the "permanent" price the others followed suit to meet competition.

Seasonal changes in milk production have caused prices to drop from a peak of 25 cents paid for the regular product last Sept. 1. However, prices are expected to rise again later as production slackens.

FORMOSA ESSENTIAL TO FREE WORLD, STEVENSON SAYS

TAIPEH, Formosa, March 21 (AP)—Adlai Stevenson today described Formosa as essential to the defense of the free world.

Speaking at a news conference, the defeated Democratic candidate for the United States presidency agreed that the Seventh Fleet should not bar Nationalist activities against the mainland, and added:

"I don't think anyone in the United States, myself included, thought the Seventh Fleet was being used to protect the mainland. In fact, I'm under the impression that the Nationalist forces on the islands have been making a great many raids in spite of the Seventh Fleet."

Stevenson said that if one of the objectives of the Nationalists was to demonstrate, here in Formosa, that the mistakes of the past could be rectified, and there could be established a laboratory example of better government, the results were "splendid."

It would be a mistake to look for any weakening or disorder in the Soviet Union after the death of Stalin, Stevenson said. "I think the most foolish thing the free world can do is to confuse hopes with realities in dealing with the Communists."

BILL TO CONTINUE RELAXED ZONING ON ROOMERS PASSED

The Board of Aldermen yesterday extended until Dec. 31 a relaxation in the zoning ordinance under which owners of homes in areas restricted to single-family dwellings may rent rooms.

Easing of the ordinance was adopted after World War II because of the housing shortage. After expiration of its initial two-year limitation, the relaxation has been approved on a year-to-year basis.

However, no more than four roomers or boarders may be given accommodations in a home in an area zoned for single-family dwellings.

The aldermen were late approving the extension. The previous one had expired last Dec. 31.

BOOKLET OUTLINES WORK OF DARST ADMINISTRATION

Distribution of a 64-page booklet outlining the activities of the city administration during the last four years will begin next week, Mayor Joseph M. Darst's office announced today.

The brochure, which was issued instead of an annual published report, was prepared by a public relations firm. The total cost was about $8000. It will be distributed to city officials and civic leaders.

It contains a description of plans made for future improvements for the city and contains also a general history of city planning here over the last 50 years.

Construction progress made by the city in housing projects, expressways, airport extension and waterworks improvements also was listed.

WRESTLES WITH TWO ROBBERS BUT THEY FLEE WITH HIS $75

John Campbell, confectionery proprietor, wrestled last night with two robbers in his place at 1501 Ohio avenue, East St. Louis, but they managed to get away with $75, he reported to police.

Campbell, 62 years old, said one of the men carried a rusty revolver and pointed it at him as the other took the money from a cash register. When the armed man attempted to fire a shot into the floor, however, the weapon snapped without discharging.

Then Campbell wrestled with the men, who failed in an effort to take his billfold containing $40. They fled after a counter display fell on one of them during the struggle.

LIQUOR STORE ROBBED OF $75

A liquor store at 3811 Lee avenue, was robbed of $75 yesterday by three armed men who compelled the occupants to lie on the floor. The robbers escaped in a dark sedan bearing a Minnesota license.

Mrs. George Endler, wife of the proprietor, was in the store with her brothers, John and Bernard Dolan, when the three men with handkerchiefs tied over their faces entered. Displaying revolvers, they forced the three to lie on the floor while one of the robbers opened the cash register.

2 SUITS FILED TO BLOCK VOTES ON SCHOOL TRANSFERS

Suit to prevent a vote April 7 on the transfer of 20 square miles of Eureka School District R-6 to the Valley Park school district was filed yesterday in circuit court in Clayton. It was the second such suit filed in two days.

Yesterday's action was brought by James Walter Shackelford of Kirkwood, who alleged that transfer would result in damage to property values in the Eureka district and would impair the market for $800,000 in school district bonds voted recently.

The other suit was filed by Ralph E. McIlhaney, Highland and Pomona avenues, St. Louis county, against a vote on transferring 20 square miles of School District 2 (Mason Ridge) to the Valley Park district. Both suits alleged that Valley Park district officials were behind circulation of petitions for the election.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM

Herbert N. Gillespie, railroad conductor, was found dead yesterday in his room at the Pennsylvania Railroad's Roselake Rest House, 2517 North Forty-first street, Fairmont City. A deputy coroner said Gillespie, 50 years old, apparently suffered a heart attack. His home was in Terre Haute, Ind.

NATHAN BARACK FOUND GUILTY OF TAX EVASION

Auto Parts Firm Officer Ordered to Appear for Sentencing on April 1.

Nathan Barack, vice president of the Barack Auto Parts Co., 4050 Easton avenue, was found guilty of income tax evasion today by a jury in the court of United States District Judge Rubey M. Hulen.

The jury, which received the case at 4:45 p.m. yesterday, deliberated until 1:45 a.m. Judge Hulen gave Barack's attorneys five days to file a motion for a new trial and ordered him to appear April 1 for sentencing.

Barack, who lives at 7137 Delmar boulevard, University City, was charged with evading $2506 in income taxes for 1946. The indictment alleged that he paid $1146 on a reported income of $5910, but that he actually owed $3652 on income totaling $13,535.

The Government introduced evidence that Barack failed to report sales of automotive parts made in the Boston (Mass.) area to the bookkeeper for his firm.

Barack testified he had reported the sales to the firm, but that they were not entered on books from which returns were made. However, his brother, Sam Barack, president of the firm, denied that the company had received notification of the sales.

Sam Barack was sentenced last Sept. 15 to a year and a day in prison and fined $5000 after pleading guilty of evading $3944 in income taxes.

SURETY SUES TO RECOVER $2819 ALLEGEDLY EMBEZZLED

A suit to recover $2819 which Mrs. Ethel Bernhardt allegedly embezzled from the Park Plaza Hotel Employes Credit Union was filed yesterday in Circuit Court by the Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Co.

The insurance firm, which reimbursed the credit union for its loss, asked for a lien against property it says Mrs. Bernhardt owns at 3642-44 Wyoming street. She told police in August 1949, that while she was treasurer of the union, she took the money to help clothe and educate her two children. She then was employed as a cashier at the hotel.

A charge of embezzlement was dismissed by the Circuit Attorney's office after an audit of the credit union's books failed to disclose a shortage, and there was no evidence against her except her own statement to police. The suit contends she used the embezzled funds to purchase a home at 3417 Humphrey street which she later sold and used the proceeds to buy the property on Wyoming street.

GEORGE E. DYSON FUNERAL

Funeral services for George E. Dyson, retired branch manager of the old Mittag & Volger, Inc., typewriter supply company, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at Scottish Rite Cathedral, 3637 Lindell boulevard. Burial will be in New Picker Cemetery.

Mr. Dyson, who was 84 years old, died of a cerebral hemorrhage Thursday at his home, 6656 Lindenwood place. Surviving is his wife, Mrs. Frieda S. Dyson.

RED P.O.W. KILLED, 2 OTHERS WOUNDED IN KOJE INCIDENTS

PUSAN, Korea, March 21 (AP)—The United Nations Prisoner of War Command said a North Korean Communist prisoner was shot and killed Thursday and two others were wounded by gunfire Wednesday in disturbances on Koje island off South Korea.

South Korean guards inflicted the casualties. The Allied command said there were no U.N. casualties.

In the Thursday incident, a South Korean guard challenged prisoners assembled outdoors at 3:20 a.m. in violation of orders. One prisoner was shot fatally when he ran and ignored an order to halt, the Army said.

The Wednesday disturbance resulted from refusal by prisoners to give up rations for half of their number who had been transferred to another compound.

D.P. Who Can't Enter U.S. Marries Detroit Woman on Border Bridge

DETROIT, March 21 (UP)—A Detroit woman and her Canadian fiance stood today on the United States-Canadian border in the center of Ambassador bridge and said their marriage vows.

It's the only way Jovan Urasevic, 30-year-old displaced person from Yugoslavia, and Mrs. Evangeline Karsai, 35, could be married.

The ceremony was performed by record's Judge O. Z. Ide, who believes that love conquers all.

"I've never had a case quite like it," the judge said. "She could go where he is but she couldn't marry there. And he can't come to where she's free to marry."

Urasevic has applied for a United States marriage license here Thursday, couldn't marry in Canada because she was divorced there.

Urasevic has aplied for a United States visa but can't enter the country until an investigation is made of his record in Yugoslavia.

"It would take Mrs. Karsai about eight months to get a marriage license in Canada," the judge said. "So the only thing to do was to bring them together at the border."

Immigration officials agreed to allow Urasevic to stand one inch inside the United States so Ide, who has no jurisdiction in Canada, could perform the ceremony.

"And I made sure he got his toes in this country," Ide said. "I don't want to take a chance of performing an illegal ceremony."

Mrs. Karsai plans to spend weekends with Urasevic in Canada until his visa is granted.

"The couple has our blessings and we did all we could to make the wedding a success," said C. Clinton Campbell, president of the Ambassador Bridge Corp.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

An Earlier Browns Lawsuit

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The current controversy over the sale and removal of the Browns and the injunction suits growing out of the intended transaction bring to mind another lawsuit involving the ball club.

In 1910 Jack O'Connor had a two-year contract to manage the Browns. At the close of that season Ty Cobb, playing for Detroit, and Larry Lajoie, playing for Cleveland, were vying for batting honors in the American League. The Browns were at the proverbial bottom in team standing.

After the finish of the 1910 season O'Connor was dismissed as the manager. He sued the Browns to recover his salary for the year 1911. It was alleged in defense to the suit that the players on the Browns, under O'Connor's direction, in the final game of the season, against Cleveland, permitted Lajoie to make six hits in six times at bat that day in order to top Cobb for the batting honors.

The case was tried before a jury in the Circuit Court of the City of St. Louis and a verdict rendered against the ball club for the amount of O'Connor's salary for 1911 in the sum of $3000. The case was appealed to the St. Louis Court of Appeals, where it is reported in 193 Mo. App. 167 and 181 S.W. 1167.

DALTON W. SCHREIBER.

Time to Crack Down

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I think the President has been very patient. But it looks now as if he will have to crack down on those Republicans who are trying to sabotage his foreign policy.

It was the one weakness of Secretary Acheson that in dealing with the Far East he allowed the State Department to be intimidated by these same people, and the result was the war in Korea.

Irresponsible charges and bulldozing of our State Department have done irreparable damage to our foreign policy.

LUCIEN N. BARNES.

Opinions on a Civic Defeat

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The truth of the Plaza bond defeat is that we no longer have enough voters in the city who can afford to be civic minded.

Those voters who moved to the county were fed up with taxes and bond issues they could no longer afford. The burden of sales tax, earnings tax and rent control makes it too tough for the remaining property owners to indulge in the luxury of civic progress.

The mental giants feeding at the public trough let blight and decay creep all over the city with their spot zoning racket, and civic pride has gone forever. People are getting smarter.

W. W. PIERCE.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The taxpayers ought to have been clearly shown how the Plaza plan could have been carried out without any cost to them. The writer has never seen or heard of anyone getting something for nothing. But miracles sometimes happen. If this were explained, the bond issue might go over if there were another election.

Incidentally, will the proposed special election be held without any cost to the taxpayer; if not, how much?

JOHN D. DITZLER.

McCarran No Exception

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The astonishingly well-financed campaign to "smear" Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada and to discredit the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, is not exceptional. Similar campaigns have been made against other patriotic Americans who have stood firmly for the well-being, security and honor of our country.

These include former Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota, former Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Charles A. Lindbergh, the late Henry Ford, the late James Forrestal, and former Senator Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia. At one time or another each of these men were victims of the organized smear.

Taxes and a Lobby

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It's interesting to note that because of the influence of the powerful public school lobby, the Senate scuttled Gov. Donnelly's proposal to exempt food from the 2 per cent sales tax.

Of course, the schools will expect these same people (most of whom are in the low income bracket) to give favorable approval to the 14 cent hike in the St. Louis school tax rate!

FRANK K. STEELE.

Three Calls to Active Duty

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I believe it is time something was done about the plight of the reservist. Like many others I am a reservist who served in both World War II and the Korean action.

I was recalled to active duty on Aug. 8, 1950, and served aboard the U.S.S. Princeton until my release on Dec. 7, 1951. I am now an inactive reservist and my enlistment in this organization ends next June 8. But on March 3 I received official notice from the Navy that my class of service has been changed to "ready reserve." I am subject to immediate recall to active duty until July 1. Is there no limit to what is expected of a man?

I would think that Congress would not have the nerve to ask a man to report for war for the third time when there are so many who have not yet served for the first time.

Beyond 'Peril Points'

One of the severest tasks to face the Eisenhower Administration is the development of policies on tariffs and international trade.

There seems to be no doubt that the Administration recognizes the need for reduced trade barriers and is generally disposed to move in that direction. There is also no doubt that it will be fought by protectionist Republicans in Congress. The question for the Administration is not whether its intentions are good, but whether it can develop the constructive statesmanship required to carry those intentions into effective action.

President Eisenhower recently said that some kind of "peril point"—a level below which tariffs cannot legally be cut—should be retained in the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act when it is extended. Representative Simpson of Pennsylvania, author of the present "peril point" clause, promptly cracked back with the announcement that he would seek to write into the law a more severe restriction than it now contains.

The fact is, however, that if the tariff fight degenerates into a fight over what kind of "peril point" to adopt, the battle for expanded world trade as a substitute for American overseas subsidies may be lost before it starts.

Under the present law, the Tariff Commission is authorized to determine when a tariff reduction would "imperil" the domestic industry involved, and tariffs cannot be cut below that point unless the President overrules the Commission's recommendation.

President Eisenhower recently exercised this option in the case of briar pipes. The commission had recommended higher tariffs, on the ground that America's briar pipe industry, which employs 1600 persons, is threatened by foreign competition. The President set aside the ruling temporarily. Representative Simpson would deprive him of this discretionary power altogether.

But the real issue is not whether tariff cuts "imperil" one domestic industry or another. Any tariff law that is adequate for today's world will, in fact, "imperil" some industries. What is required of constructive statesmanship is not a mechanism to prevent any industry from being "imperiled," but a mechanism to encourage and help "imperiled" industries adjust to the lower tariffs and stiffer foreign competition which inevitably must come if the over-all aim of generally expanded trade is to be achieved.

Protecting every domestic producer and at the same time granting foreign producers wider access to American markets are incompatible purposes.

If the new tariff law is to be effective, then it must provide for greater reduction of trade barriers than is possible under the present Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act. The tariff concessions which can be made within that act, without "imperiling" any domestic industry, are just about used up. In the words of Michael Hoffman, New York Times correspondent at Geneva, headquarters of the free world's tariff organization:

> Outside of the United States it would be regarded as a serious setback for efforts to maintain an expanding economy in the non-Communist world if Congress simply renewed the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act as it is.

Are the American people and the Eisenhower Administration ready to face these facts? Ready, not simply to extend the present law, but to write an altogether new law advancing us much farther toward free trade than we have yet dared to go? That is the central issue of the tariff controversy in 1953.

Mussolini Did It

The Rev. Francis J. Corley S.J. of St. Louis told the National Catholic Conference on Family Life in Philadelphia that the Federal Government should provide monthly payments to large families to ease the financial burden of caring for children in such families. Putting the total cost in the United States at $1,750,000,000, he proposed a monthly check of $12 for a family with three children, an additional $10 for the fourth child and $8 additional for the fifth and each succeeding child. He pointed out that such payments are in force in 45 countries.

There can be no disagreement with the St. Louis churchman that much of the nation's liquor bill would be better spent on the welfare of the country's children. To this end, it is wholly desirable to raise the level of child health and welfare through better health and welfare facilities. In the last 25 years these facilities have been greatly increased and the income of families has also been raised.

But the payment of a monthly government bonus for each child in excess of two in a family, up to the age of 18, would introduce a principle very different. That would be a direct state subsidy to the individual family, encouraging large families as a matter of government policy. It is inconceivable that such a subsidy could be paid without profound effects on the relations between the citizen and his government. In the long run, the character of our democracy would stand to be basically altered.

Father Corley said that his proposal would stir up talk of statism and socialism. He is right about that and one of the reasons is the experience which Italy had with it under Mussolini.

No Support for Mistakes

The disposition of Democratic Senators to support President Eisenhower is splendid and it is to their credit that they have upon occasion backed him up when he was let down on important matters by the Republicans. This support, however, can go too far, particularly when the President's advisers are inducing him to make appointments to which he would in all probability object if he were fully informed.

Such an appointment is that of Edward F. Howrey, Washington lawyer-lobbyist, to a seven-year term on the Federal Trade Commission, before which Mr. Howrey has represented large clients for some 20 years. This appointment now stands approved by the Senate Commerce Committee and is on the schedule for probable confirmation next week.

The way the committee handled the appointment raises serious doubts. It was going through quietly, without notice, when the Post-Dispatch caught up with it. Then Chairman Tobey found it convenient very shortly to take a vote and announce that the action was unanimous. In fact, the vote did not even reflect necessarily the views of the nine (out of 15) committee members who were present. Two Senators—Schoeppel, Kansas Republican, and Magnuson, Washington Democrat—said they reserved the right to vote against confirmation when the nomination comes up in the Senate.

Twenty Senators opposed Albert M. Cole, foe of public housing, to be Housing Administrator. There should be that many and more opposed to seeing a man who has been a professional lobbyist go on the agency which business lobbyists day in and day out seek to influence against the interests of consumers.

A Victory for Progress

Friday was an important day for civic progress. The Board of Aldermen passed the new master traffic plan by 25 votes to 1, which is a good indication of the importance of the measure to the city's future.

This is the first time St. Louis has done anything consequential about its traffic ailment for many years. Meanwhile the city's arteries became congested as if old age were creeping up on the community.

Now at last the disease has been attacked. For this the community may be grateful to the Chamber of Commerce, which first devised and then actively promoted the traffic plan. Before long the city will establish more one-way traffic on downtown streets, and to restrict parking there and on major boulevards. The result will be more room for vehicles to move.

Even with this objective in view the aldermen could not surrender all their claims as traffic experts. They added 10 amendments to soften the parking restrictions in some outlying areas.

Fortunately this will not affect the downtown area where congestion is worst. But the best that can be said of the amendments is that they can be removed, if experience shows that they slow down traffic.

Nobody expects the new traffic plan to solve all the city's transportation problems. It should help speed up transit schedules but the problem of increasing transit costs and decreasing service will remain. It will allow freer movement of vehicles but add to the problem of parking them. It will not answer the need for expressways.

What the traffic ordinance should do is to show what can be accomplished with present facilities. That will clarify the requirements for better transit, off-street parking and highways. The aldermen's vote points to a better future.

Roberts Case Coverage Picks Up

Last Sunday attention was directed by this page to the fact that few newspapers east of the Mississippi were noticing the spirited and very interesting investigation at Topeka into certain financial operations of C. Wesley Roberts, new Republican National Chairman. Since charges of influence peddling against Democratic party officials had earned large headlines and heavy emphasis in the Truman Administration, it was puzzling to find the news about similar charges on the G.O.P. side now largely ignored.

One of the newspapers which showed little interest was The New York Times notwithstanding the fact that the investigation had been going on, in one form or another, for several weeks. This can no longer be said of The New York Times. On Thursday morning it presented a long and detailed report from Topeka by one of its staff correspondents, W. H. Lawrence. Mr. Lawrence's dispatch began on Page 1, top column, and ran a total of two and a quarter columns. It was a very thorough job of catching the Times's readers up on the Roberts case.

On the same day the New York Herald Tribune had an Associated Press report on page 16. Although there has been news enough out of Topeka on this scandal for the Post-Dispatch to station a staff correspondent there for the course of the investigation, we could find no mention of the Roberts case at all in the editions reaching St. Louis of The Washington Post for Wednesday of this week—and on Thursday this major newspaper in the nation's capital gave the story just three inches on Page 13.

Up to Seven Aldermen

Is the fight for fluoridation over? Must the refusal of the Board of Aldermen to discharge its public utilities committee from further consideration of the measure mean the end of the bill in this session? To both questions the answer is No.

The decision on whether St. Louis is to enjoy the benefits of fluoridation in reducing dental decay among children is still in the hands of the committee. Although the seven members of that group have been ducking the issue since last May, when the bill was introduced, they still have a chance to act.

Between now and April 2, when the current board session expires, they will have at least one and perhaps two more opportunities to stand up for the people, to quit laying with the dental health of the city's children.

The issue for decision is simple: If fluoridation a safe, practical and effective method of checking dental decay in children? The answer, which the Aldermen already have, is an overwhelming Yes—affirmed by every important medical, dental and public health agency.

Moreover August A. Busch Jr., whose firm, Anheuser-Busch Inc., is the largest individual user of water in the city, has declared without equivocation: "We are not opposed to fluoridation and we wish to make that clear."

This leaves the Aldermen with not a single sound reason for standing in the way of fluoridation. But before the whole board can be given an opportunity to be counted on the merits of the measure, the public utilities committee will have to take favorable action. As of now, therefore, the dental health of the city is in the hands of the committee's seven members. They are:

Walter W. Ziegenbalg, (Dem.), Fourth Ward, chairman.
James W. Noonan, (Dem.), Third Ward.
William C. Brady, (Dem.), Twenty-sixth Ward.
Everett J. Taylor, (Dem.), Twenty-seventh.
Leo McLaughlin, (Dem.), Second Ward.
Linton W. Peterson, (Rep.), First Ward.
Mel H. Krah, (Rep.), Tenth Ward.

Mr. Noonan, Mr. Taylor and Mr. Peterson are seeking re-election April 7 and they ought to make their voices heard with Mr. Ziegenbalg and the others who have another two years of grace.

Keep the Absentee Ballot

If the Missouri Legislature balks at burning down the barn to roast a pig, it will find a quiet pigeonhole for the bill introduced by Representative Ray R. Pryer of Clinton to abolish absentee voting by civilians.

It took Missouri years to get this law on the books so that voters absent from the state on election day could still exercise their franchise. Now Mr. Pryer wants to wipe it off the books. And why? Because, he says, absentee ballots have been fraudulently cast in his home county by persons who actually do not have legal residence there.

If there have been frauds in Mr. Pryer's county, the remedy is in his county. The statutes contain ample resources for prosecuting fraud if they have occurred. To repeal the absentee ballot law because it may have been abused would make as little sense as abrogating the right to vote because it has been abused.

The White House and McCarthy

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Asked if Senator McCarthy was helping fight Communism, the President said he did not know what the Senator was trying to do; Catholic journal urges Administration to find out; says G.O.P. leaders cannot evade issues of political morality and McCarthyism.

An Editorial in The Commonweal

Toward the end of the late campaign, when some of Gen. Eisenhower's independent supporters expressed their disillusionment at his indorsement of Senators McCarthy, Jenner et al., a disingenuous apology was made for his conduct.

The indorsement, it was said, was a necessity because only an Eisenhower victory could insure the decline of McCarthyism as a national menace. Elected, the General would "control" the demagogues in his own party.

Senator McCarthy

The present end of such hopes was summarized in a recent Herblock cartoon. In it Messrs. McCarthy, Jenner and Velde are seen riding triumphantly, in full witches' garb, through the sky over the national capital. The vehicle for their flight is the traditional one. Watching this phenomenon from the White House lawn, with an expression of puzzled consternation on his face, is the President. The cartoon is captioned "The New Broom."

Herblock irony seems justified by events of the past month. At this point, at least, it seems that we can expect little effective opposition to McCarthy from the executive branch of the Government.

When questioned at a recent press conference about whether he thought Senator McCarthy's investigation of the Voice of America is helping the fight against Communism, President Eisenhower replied that well, he didn't know exactly what Mr. McCarthy was aiming to do. It was a question, he said, that he would not answer without a bit more preparation on it because he just had not thought about his particular function, what he can do and what would happen if he did not do it.

It would be well for Mr. Eisenhower to do his "bit more preparation" quickly. The material for it is close at hand. After his study he might still be unable to pass judgment on Mr. McCarthy's "aims" but he could safely guess the probable result of the Senator's present influence on American life.

It is a result not pleasant to contemplate. For the Senator's mentality and methods are such that, apart from any question of his "aims," he poisons whatever he touches.

In his hands the fight against subversion becomes a fight against free opinion, and the quest for "efficiency" becomes a quest for conformity. Any criticism of him is thus, in his view, "a vicious smear job," whoever voices it "a Communist thinker" and any paper which publishes it a local "edition of the Daily Worker."

Senator McCarthy has honored publications as diverse as The Washington Post and the Jesuit-edited America (whose editor he accused of doing a "vicious smear job" when that journal called him on his own smear of Adlai Stevenson) with his abuse.

He seems to define a "Communist thinker" as anyone who dares oppose his own twisted concept of "Americanism." He is the man who has accused both George Marshall and Dean Acheson of a deliberate plot to betray their country and talked publicly of "beating" a distinguished citizen into conformity with his own views.

The fact that he is now so powerful in the Senate that few dare challenge his authority, that through his "investigation" he is actually influencing the policy of both the Voice of America and of the State Department itself, should therefore be a cause for anguished concern to responsible members of both political parties. It should certainly be a cause for such concern for President Eisenhower.

The excuse made for the President's original indorsement of the McCarthy-Jenner tribe was based on a legalistic and, ultimately, amoral philosophy of politics. Party "unity," it was said, demanded the support of all party members.

A similar legalism is offered now to excuse the President of any responsibility for the conduct of Republican members of Congress. For Congress, it is argued, has the "right" to investigate, and it is a right with which, in the President's own words, it would be dangerous for the Executive to interfere.

The legalism is nice, and in a sense true, but it can be dangerous, too. The legislators' right to investigate is not absolute. It should be governed by considerations of both justice and prudence. And questions of political morality cannot be forever evaded by appeals to political expediency. Sooner or later, the issue of Senator McCarthy's power will have to be faced, honestly and courageously, by the responsible leaders of his own party.

One hopes that they will face this question, and answer it, before too much of what is decent and intelligent in American life is subverted or destroyed. The voice of a Joseph McCarthy must never become the voice of America, but the danger that it may is both clear and present now.

Illinois Helps the Ancient Tortilla

From the Bulletin of the National Geographic Society

Nutrition experts in Illinois, at the request of the Mexican Government, have successfully milled an inexpensive, dry and stable tortilla flour from which Mexico's ancient unsalted, unleavened corn flapjacks can be made with greater ease.

Tortillas are the staff of life today for millions of people. From the Southwest United States through the Isthmus of Panama, corn-dough cakes have been the basic food of Indian civilizations as far back as history records.

Women in remote sections still grind corn meal on flat slabs of rock called "metates." With a second stone shaped somewhat like a rolling pin, they crush the corn and roll it into a moist paste, from which tortilla dough, called "masa" is kneaded.

The corn must first be boiled in lime water and then again in fresh water. Since the soapy-tasting dough will spoil in less than six hours without refrigeration, women's work is never done. The entire process has to be repeated for each day's meals.

One of Mexico's most familiar sounds is that made by women patting "masa" into tortillas, flattening them to pancake shape. The cakes when baked can be eaten as they are, rolled around various meat stuffings, or used as spoons for other food. After one dries out and toughens during a long trip, it can be used to patch a worn sandal, Mexicans say wryly.

To provide a more stable, storable form of the basic tortilla, which could be enriched by vitamins, minerals or protein to fortify the national diet on a wholesale basis, the Bank of Mexico asked the Armour Research Foundation of Illinois Institute of Technology to develop a new way of processing and marketing tortilla mix. The desired product would have to make tortillas indistinguishable from the masa-made variety, and be cheap enough to compete for the centavos of the lowest income groups.

Such a product, a dry flour, has now been developed by a new dehydration process. A pilot plant has been in operation for a year. More than 500 tons of the new flour has been used by Mexicans without complaints. Now a factory is being built outside Mexico City to boost production of the flour to a commercial level. New tortillas are coming to an ancient land.

Scaling Annapurna's Peak

ANNAPURNA: FIRST CONQUEST OF AN 8000 METER PEAK, by Maurice Herzog. (Dutton, 316 pgs., $5.)
William O. Douglas in The New York Times

This story of the nine-man French expedition which climbed Annapurna (26,493 feet) of the Himalayas in 1950 is the most beautiful chapter in mountain literature that I know. It was written by the leader of that expedition—one of the two men to reach the top.

The photographs by Marcel Ichac are extraordinary. (Editor's note: The book now tops the list of best sellers in nonfiction.)

This is no prosaic account, nor was the expedition itself prosaic. These men had to find the mountain, then to make a reconnaissance of it and finally to climb it. Its location, access to it, a practical route to the top — these were all unknown.

Maurice Herzog

Annapurna is deep in Nepal. The time for exploration and climbing comes only in the brief spell between the melting of winter snows in the lower reaches and the beginning the monsoon.

For a group to overcome these difficulties in a few brief months on an unknown mountain in the mighty Himalayan range is an outstanding achievement. Few mountains over 25,000 feet have ever been climbed.

I was in the Himalayas a few weeks after the French had completed their expedition, and the greatness of their exploit was on the lips of everyone who knew that mighty range. But I had no idea of the daring, the courage, the exquisite spiritual achievement of the project until this book was published.

The story of the assault is vivid, moving, eloquent. Herzog, the romanticist, dallied at the top. Lachenal, the conservative, was anxious to return, fearful of frostbite. Herzog, in a careless moment, dropped his gloves and they blew away into eternity. When he got back to camp his hands were violet and white and as hard as wood.

Lachenal fell over a cliff and suffered a concussion. Both had frozen hands and feet. There was the awful night in camp with the other climbers trying to save fingers and toes while the blizzard howled outside.

Then started the long trek down with the two cripples. The blizzard blew the first day and the party got lost. That night they stayed in a deep crevasse without food or heat. The fate of the frozen hands and feet was settled then. Two climbers became snowblind. All four of them were close to death. The story of their sensations, their conduct, their thoughts is as exciting as the rescue by a fifth member of the expedition.

* * *

The retreat with the two injured men was long and painful, lasting five weeks. It is a record of superb teamwork. The story of the expedition is indeed the story of splendid co-operation among men under circumstances that pushed their nerves, their stamina, their minds to the outer limits.

Herzog and Lachenal had to be carried out in baskets on porters' backs. The expedition surgeon saved their lives. The porters achieved the impossible. The success of the expedition was in large measure due to the sterling qualities of the faithful Nepalese, the best mountain men in the world.

Only those who go beyond the limits of apparent endurance and survive can know the deep abiding satisfaction that comes. Those who have never seen the Himalayas, those who never care to risk an assault will know when they finish this book that they have been a companion of greatness.

PLAN TO FEDERATE ADOPTED BY TWO CHURCHES IN AREA

Kingshighway and First United Presbyterian Will Unite at Latter's Location.

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Kingshighway Presbyterian Church, Kingshighway and Cabanne avenue, and First United Presbyterian Church, 6800 Washington avenue, University City, will unite their congregations to form a federated church at the University City location. The large property on Kingshighway will be sold.

The announcement that the two churches will federate was made after a dinner meeting of the two congregations Wednesday night at Kingshighway Church.

The name of the new federated church has not been chosen.

Kingshighway Church, with 1400 members, belongs to the Presbyterian Church U.S.A. and the St. Louis Presbytery. First United Church is affiliated with the United Presbyterian Church, a different denomination.

The Rev. Dr. Eldon Clay Frye has been pastor of Kingshighway Church since January 1945. First United Church has been without a pastor since January, when the Rev. Fred M. Blick resigned to accept a pastorate at Pittsburgh, Pa. This church has a membership of 200 persons.

The Rev. Dr. Frye will serve the federated congregations starting with Easter services. The two groups will join, however, in Holy Week services. On Easter, the Rev. Dr. Frye will conduct the service at First United Church at 9:30 a.m., and at Kingshighway Church at 11 a.m. A second service at First United Church at 11 a.m. will be conducted by the Rev. H. Wallace Hutchison, a minister of the United Presbyterian Church.

Sunday services will be held by the Rev. Dr. Frye in both churches through April and May, or until the details of federation have been completed and the Kingshighway property sold. Thereafter, all services will be held at First United Church, which seats 550 persons.

Negotiations for the federation started last June, though Kingshighway Church had been considering for a long time selling its property and relocating in the county. Most of its members had moved away from the neighborhood of Kingshighway and Cabanne, and many come long distances to church.

In June, Kingshighway Church received a letter from First United Church inviting the former congregation to worship in the latter church. This led to negotiations which resulted in federation.

Kingshighway Church was organized in 1897, with 28 charter members. It was formed by the consolidation of two other Presbyterian churches. The church was built in 1909, and a large recreation building and church offices were added later.

Billy Graham Answers Criticism That Revival Converts 'Don't Stick'

When Evangelist Billy Graham was in St. Louis recently, he discussed with pastors and laymen the old criticism that converts in mass revivals "don't stick."

He said that the criticism was often justified, that many of the converts in evangelistic campaigns never became good church members. "But my party is going to do something about this," he promised.

The Rev. Dr. Graham will conduct meetings in Kiel Auditorium, April 19 to May 17.

Today the Rev. Donald A. Rosenberger of Washington, D.C., a member of the Billy Graham team, arrived in St. Louis to set up a program of personal work and follow-up. He is responsible for the follow-up of all Graham crusades.

"This program is something new in evangelism," the Rev. Mr. Rosenberger said. "Billy Graham is the first evangelist in America to have such a thorough program designed to conserve the fruits of evangelism. We will strengthen the local churches into which the fruits of the crusade will be channeled."

1100 Workers Named.

Pastors in the St. Louis area have named 1100 men and women counselors to serve in personal work and follow-up. They will meet for the first time tomorrow at 3 p.m. at Memorial Presbyterian Church, 201 South Skinker boulevard. The Rev. Mr. Rosenberger will give these workers their instructions, and eight meetings will be held before the St. Louis campaign opens.

Hundreds of cottage prayer meetings will be held in St. Louis in advance of the Billy Graham crusade, his headquarters announced today.

Chairman of the women's division for the cottage prayer meetings is Mrs. P. C. Barker, a member of Memorial Presbyterian Church. Neighborhood groups will meet four days a week, Tuesdays through Fridays, from 10 to 10:45 a.m., Mrs. Barker announced. During the first 15 minutes, the women will listen to a broadcast by a St. Louis minister over radio station KSTL.

Postal zones of the city were followed to set up the prayer meetings, with a director in charge of each zone. The zones were divided into divisions of from 300 to 500 homes in each, with a captain in charge. The divisions have been subdivided into districts, with 25 to 30 homes each. A cottage prayer meeting will be held in each district.

Graham in Chattanooga.

Prayer meetings will be held in offices, stores, factories and shops, it was announced by Lee J. Hoyt, chairman of the men's division. Prayer meetings for young people will be held in schools and colleges, according to Paul E. Barker, chairman of the young people's division. Ministers will meet every Tuesday at 7:30 a.m. at the Downtown Y.M.C.A., for breakfast and prayer. These meetings will start next Tuesday, it was announced by the chairman of the ministers' division, the Rev. Dr. C. Oscar Johnson of Third Baptist Church.

The Rev. Dr. Graham opened an evangelistic crusade last Sunday at Chattanooga, Tenn. More than 12,000 people attended the opening service. The evangelist is speaking in a tabernacle that was erected for his campaign in a park in the center of the city. A group of citizens built the tabernacle and gave it to the city. After the Graham meetings it will be maintained as a civic center.

The Billy Graham campaign in Chattanooga will close on April 10, a week before the St. Louis campaign is to start.

TWO CHURCHES MARK 50TH ANNIVERSARIES

Gibson Heights Presbyterian and Victor Street Mission Founded in 1903.

Two Presbyterian churches of St. Louis celebrated their fiftieth anniversaries this week. They are Gibson Heights United Presbyterian Church, Taylor and Arco avenues, and Victor Street Mission, 315 Victor street.

Gibson Heights Church held its golden anniversary dinner last night, and more than 200 persons were present. The address was made by the Rev. Cameron B. Reed of Hamden, N.Y., who was pastor of Gibson Heights Church from 1925 to 1929.

The Rev. Paul Arthur Troy has been pastor of the church since 1948.

The congregation that afterwards became Gibson Heights Church was first organized in 1893 in the home of Mrs. Mary Williams, 4347 Vista avenue. The church was formally organized on March 20, 1903, with 38 charter members. The present stone church was built in 1911.

Pioneers in Victor Street Mission were the late Dr. E. McGinnis and his wife. In November, 1902, Dr. McGinnis invited Hugo Wurdack to speak at the mission, and Wurdack served the downtown mission for more than 40 years. Now 82 years old, he spoke at the golden anniversary service last Sunday. Wurdack, a former member of the St. Louis Board of Education, lives at 5501 Lindell boulevard.

Victor Street Mission is a mission of Peters Memorial Presbyterian Church, 3100 Sidney street, but has been self-supporting since 1911. The Rev. Charles L. Bloomer is pastor.

At College Church

THE REV. FREDERICK J. ADELMANN, S.J.

LENTEN SERMONS ON MARRIAGE AND HOME CONTINUE

The Lenten Sunday night sermons on "Marriage and the Home" at St. Francis Xavier (College) Church, Grand and Lindell boulevards, have drawn congregations that filled the large church, reports the pastor, the Rev. William S. Bowdern S.J.

The preacher on the last two Sunday nights was the Rev. Patrick J. Holloran S. J., and there was a capacity congregation for both services.

The final sermons in the series, tomorrow night and March 29, will be given by the Rev. Frederick J. Adelmann S. J. of St. Louis University. His subject tomorrow at 8 p.m. will be "Divorce," and on March 29, "The Home." The benediction of the blessed sacrament will close the service.

DEACONESS SISTERS ADD AN EXTRA $1000 TO CHAPEL PLEDGE

The Deaconess Sisters of Deaconess Hospital, 6150 Oakland avenue, yesterday pledged an additional $1000 to the $75,000 memorial chapel fund which they are raising. The sisterhood had made an original gift of $12,000.

The Deaconess Sisters and their friends have been raising money for years to build a chapel for hospital personnel, patients and their relatives. The chapel will be part of the new $2,000,000 addition to Deaconess Hospital, which is to be started this year.

The chapel fund campaign has reached the halfway mark, it was announced by Sister Superior Olivia Drusch.

Stu Miller Injured as Weak-Hitting Cardinals Lose to Braves 11-2

Redbirds Don't Look Like Flag Winners

TAMPA, Fla., March 21—The exhibition game scheduled for today between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds was called off because of rain.

By J. Roy Stockton
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21—Chief topic of conversation around the Cardinals' training camp today was the condition of Stu Miller's pitching arm.

The colorful young right-hander who figures so prominently in Manager Stanky's plans suffered a torn shoulder muscle as he pitched against the Milwaukee Braves at Bradenton, yesterday. Shoulder injuries are tricky things and it will take a few days to find out just how seriously he is hurt.

Young catcher Dick Rand provided some consolation in the 11-2 defeat when he made three straight singles, driving in both the Cardinal runs.

Eleven defeats in 14 spring exhibition games would not be anything to worry about if the contests were being lost 12 to 10 or 8 to 7. It's the low run production of the Cardinals that makes it difficult to be optimistic about the Redbirds' pennant chances.

We asked Manager Eddie Stanky about it. We suggested that perhaps he could rebuild our optimism. Was he perturbed about the weak attack the Cardinals had been showing in spring training.

Stanky Not Disturbed.

"Don't worry about it," he answered quickly. "It was the same story last spring. We weren't hitting a year ago."

Yes, and the club finished third. That isn't bad, but there hasn't been a pennant for the Redbirds since 1946. It would be good if the fans could be encouraged a little, but they wouldn't be satisfied or happy if they thought third was the best the 1953 Cardinals could hope for.

When spring training started Stanky said much depended on three key rookies, Ray Jablonski, Steve Bilko and Rip Repulski. At the moment Repulski is the only one of the three with a fair chance of helping the ball club.

Bilko has hit well in some games and has looked bad in others. Jablonski has hit some hard balls, but his batting average is not good and he is not spectacular in the field. He may be satisfactory defensively, but he'll have to hit to make the team. No manager would keep him in there for defensive purposes.

The way the team shapes up now, unless Stanky quits on some of the men he apparently wants to be regulars, the infield will be Bilko, Red Schoendienst, Solly Hemus and Jablonski and Stan Musial, Repulski and Slaughter will be the outfielders. That isn't a pennant winning team, as it has performed in Florida. Bilko doesn't look like a major leaguer. Schoendienst is a real big leaguer, which makes the infield championship at one position only. Hemus lacks the range of great shortstops and this year he hasn't been getting on base. Never a great hitter he was extremely valuable last season. Every time you looked up he was on base, either on a walk or hit by a pitched ball.

Musial the Slow Starter.

You can't do that forever, however. You must have a certain amount of help from wild pitchers to get so many walks and to be hit so often.

You can't win a pennant with only one championship infielder, and that's the way the Cardinal infield looks at this stage of spring training.

The outfield should be satisfactory, with Musial and Slaughter flanking the rookie, Repulski. Rip has shown that he's a big-league outfielder defensively, and he probably is the best hitter among the newcomers, including Bilko.

Musial hasn't been hitting like Musial, although he always is a slow starter and undoubtedly will be a contestant for the league batting championship again. However, he's been playing a long time, long enough, perhaps, to be on his way down, instead of up. Gus Mancuso, who helps broadcast Cardinal games, was talking about Musial the other day. Gus had been showing moving pictures of the 1946 world series.

"Those pictures were very interesting," Mancuso said. "They were especially interesting in the shots of Musial hitting. Back in 1946 his wrists were snapping that bat into the ball. Movies taken last year showed the difference. You probably can't notice that from the stands, but the two movies, of 1946 and 1952, showed what happens to a batter with the years."

Time for That Rebound.

That doesn't mean that Musial is washed up, but if there was anything in what Mancuso saw in those movies, it might be that Stan the Man was losing a little of his snap. He batted .336 last year, compared to .355 in 1951. However, it might be pointed out, too, that he slumped from his 1946 average of .365 to a modest .312 in 1947 and then bounced back in 1948 to bat .376. So he might come back this year to make Mancuso's analysis of the moving pictures all wrong.

The point is, though, that the Cardinals will have to start hitting soon, if the club is to look like a potential pennant winner.

Larsen Does It Again As Browns Trap Cubs

By L. A. McMaster
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 21—Cliff Fannin, making a determined bid to hold his job with the Browns, will start for Marty Marion's team in their game with the stars of the Pacific Coast League here today, as Manager Marty Marion strives to get a pitching staff lined up.

Behind Cliff, who turned in a sparkling four-hit, no-run, five-inning job against the Giants last Tuesday, will be Mike Blyzka, a new-comer just out of service. It will be only the second appearance of Blyzka, who is prized highly by the organization.

Don Larsen took some of the uncertainty out of the pitching situation when he gave his second good performance against major league opposition yesterday. He yielded one run in the ninth inning of a game won by the Browns from the Cubs, 5 to 4, on Don's second home run of the spring schedule. Larsen got out of three successive innings prior to the ninth on double plays. Then Toby Atwell and Hal Jeffcoat doubled for the score off him with none out. Don retired the next three batters.

Larsen was the winning batter but not the winning pitcher. Virgil Trucks gained the verdict with a three-hit, three-run, five-inning trick that only spoiled his runless string for the spring. One of the blows off Virgil was Bill Serena's third home run in two games with the Browns. Trucks struck out six batters.

Bob Rush was Chicago's starting pitcher and had gone 11 innings without an earned run being scored off him. He was the loser. Larsen belted his round tripper off Lefty Bob Schultz.

The teams took turns spoiling pitching records. In the first inning, Bobby Young, back at the leadoff spot singled, Ed Mickelson walked, Edwards and Wertz singled for two runs. Young's run was the first earned tally off Rush this spring. The Browns showed no regret about that and worked on Rush some more in the third, when Edwards and Wertz lined out one-baggers and Moss got a looping fly single to center. Edwards doubled to left in the fifth and got home on Wertz's third straight safety.

After three hitless innings, Trucks saw his spring scoreless pitching string broken. He passed Dee Fondy to start the fourth, then Serena hit over the fence. In the fourth, after Roy Smalley's double, and a sacrifice, Eddie Miksis singled and Smalley tallied Chicago's third run.

Trucks got a tremendous inside-the-park single and a half to center in the fourth but was out 30 feet trying for second.

Willie Miranda, Young and Mickelson proved a good double-play combination, Larsen started one. Mickelson made the play of the game in the ninth, a backhanded stop to his right.

The teams now are even on two games, with 14 more to go as they play back east.

Bob Elliott, free-agent former third base star in the National League, worked out with the Browns in after-game practice. He's trying to show Marion he merits a job.

The Browns' B team will play its last game at San Bernardino today, opposing Seattle. Bobo Holloman and Hal White are to pitch.

Rupp Calls Suit Over Gambling Losses 'Smear'

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 21 (INS)—University of Kentucky basketball coach Adolph Rupp today branded as a "smear" a damage suit naming Rupp, Gambler Frank Costello and Bookmaker Ed Curd, as co-defendants. The suit, filed yesterday, seeks $573,257 damages for an alleged fraudulent gambling scheme.

Rupp denied the charge and declared:

"Of all the smear campaigns that have ever been conducted against anyone, this is the rottenest. It is evidently a well organized campaign aimed entirely to discredit me.

"No one has fought for clean sports and tried to keep them free from gambling harder than I have."

Mrs. Lucille Chambley Bradberry of Athens, Ga., filed the suit in United States District Court at Lexington, Ky.

She charged that their "manipulations" of basketball games caused her brother, George Chumbley, to lose $191,085 and asked for triple damages.

Three former players on Rupp's basketball teams pleaded guilty in New York last year to charges of keeping down scores in "fixed" games after being accused of receiving money from gamblers.

Costello, a central figure in the recent Senate Crime Committee investigation, is serving 18 months in the Federal Correctional Institution at Milan, Mich., for contempt of Congress.

Curd was indicted several weeks ago in Louisville on federal income tax evasion charges and is now reported to be in Canada.

Araujo-Davis Winner To Get Title Bout

CLEVELAND, O., March 21 (UP)—Promoter Larry Atkins has announced that the winner of the George Araujo-Teddy Davis fight at the Cleveland Arena Wednesday night would get a lightweight title fight within 60 days.

Atkins said both the National Boxing Association and the New York Boxing Commission agreed to the title fight. Plans call for the winner of the fight for the title between Champion Jimmy Carter and Tommy Collins in Boston April 24 will meet the Araujo-Davis winner in a subsequent match.

Atkins said collins and Carter agreed to post a $5000 bond to meet the Cleveland winner. Site of the bout has not been announced but Atkins is hopeful it will be in Cleveland.

Araujo is rated number one challenger for Carter's title and Davis is ranked fifth. They will fight a 10-round nationally-televised fight at the Arena.

Harold Schaeffer bowled a record 278 high single game and John Durand tallied 669 total in the South Side Classic Scratch League at Du-Bowl Lanes. Team results: Missouri Roofers 2, Schmidt's (2939) 1; ABC Motors 2, Higgins (1047) 1; Wilmington 3, Harry's 0; Pasadena 2, Du-Bowl 1.

Everything Is Okay Say Durocher, Dark

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21 (UP)—Al Dark insisted he's not loafing in exhibition games, and Giant Manager Leo Durocher said he's not angry with his team captain.

It had been reported that Dark was sulking in games of the last few days, objecting to his experimental shift from short to second, and that Durocher was so angry he was considering trading Dark.

At a special press conference yesterday, Dark denied loafing, although he had admitted "saving my real stuff" for the regular season, and added, "I'll play any position Leo wants me to." Durocher responded with, "I wish I had nine guys like Dark."

Peoria Five to Play Naval Team In Title Game

DENVER, March 21 (UP)—Peoria Caterpillars opened up with a burst of scoring in the final quarter here last night to defeat Grihalva Motors, San Diego, Calif., 67-53, in the semi-finals of the National A.A.U. basketball tournament.

The Peoria Cats, last year's champions and first-seeded this year, play third-seeded Los Alamitos Naval Air Station tonight for the title. Los Alamitos dumped Everybody's Drug of Eugene, Ore., 56-49.

Everybody's Drug, winner by an upset over might Phillips Oilers Wednesday night, will play Grihalva for third place.

Three Named in Suit To Recover Prize Money For Stock Car Racing

TOLEDO, O., March 21 (UP)—The National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NASCAR) has accused three of its officers of withholding some $40,000 in prize money in a suit filed in federal district court.

Named were John Marcum, since Jan. 1, 1950, a regional representative of Nascar, and Frank Canale, Toledo, and Ralph Porterman, West Middlesex, Pa., both district Nascar officers under Marcum.

Nascar, which supervises auto racing at ninety-three race tracks in the United States, Canada, and Hawaii, said the men failed to report the prize money and attendance at various races and specifically at Zanesvville, O., and Kittanning, Pa.

Nascar said it had to make up the money during the past two racing seasons. The association claimed the three men attempted to discredit Nascar and tried to take over its duties.

The court action requested the two men to quit representing themselves as being associated with Nascar and to make them repay the money they allegedly withheld.

Bavasi Goes South To Investigate the Dissension Rumors

MIAMI, Fla., March 21 (AP).

THE Brooklyn Dodgers sent Vice President Buzzy Bavasi to Miami today to investigate reports of a serious morale problem arising from the shift of Jackie Robinson to third base.

Taking note of reports published in New York newspapers, President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers said at Vero Beach:

"I can't believe that such a serious situation exists as no player has complained to Bavasi, (Fresco) Thompson or myself. Buzzy will join Fresco and Charlie (Dressen) in Miami and if there is anything more to this than the usual spring 'popoff' we will deal with the situation." Thompson is vice president in charge of the farm system.

The New York reports, published in the Daily News and Herald Tribune, said resentment was growing among the Dodger players at the benching of Billy Cox, last year's regular third baseman, and Dressen's continued experiments to find a new third baseman.

The latest move by Dressen was to shift Robinson, normally a second baseman, to third base Wednesday.

Bratton Wants Gavilan After Stopping Jones

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—Johnny Bratton is hollering again for a title shot with welterweight champion Kid Gavilan after polishing off middleweight Bobby Jones in five rounds.

"That's enough middleweights for now," said the hard-hitting Chicago welter contender. "I want Gavilan and my manager Hymie Wallman has a $10,000 check made out to the Damon Runyon cancer fund if Gavilan will fight me. How long is he going to dodge me?"

Wallman passed the check around to newspaper men and said he was going to present it Friday to Bob Christenberry, chairman of the State Athletic Commission.

It took the 149-pound Bratton four rounds to warm up against Jones, a 152-pounder out of Oakland, Calif., but when he did he sizzled, Two rights to the jaw dazed the former California middleweight champion and a flashing right and left to the chin dropped Jones for the count at 2:52 of the fifth of the Madison Square Garden 10-rounder.

Jones, a 17-to-5 underdog, had the slim crowd of 4275 (gross gate $12,975) anticipating another upset when he won three of the first four rounds of the nationally telecast and broadcast bout.

The clever California Negro won the first, second and fourth rounds by switching his tactics. He scored with jabs that kept the Chicago "brat" off balance and then bored in close so that Bratton wouldn't have any punching room for his lethal bombs.

Bratton won the third when he caught Bobby with a right to the jaw just before the bell. In the fourth, Jones, nowhere in Bratton's class as a puncher, slugged it out with Johnny. Although he won the round, that set him up for the kayo.

Yale Swimmers Lead In East's Title Meet

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 21 (AP)—Yale's superlative swimming squad today owned all but one of the titles decided at the halfway point of the thirteenth annual individual invitational championships of the eastern intercollegiate swimming league. Coach Bob Kipsuth's Elis have won five of the six individual crowns as well as the only relay contested so far.

Sophomore Kerry Donovan's 0:22.5 clocking in the 50-yard free style final and fellow Eli Dick Thoman's swift 2:07.3 effort in defense of his 200 yard backstroke title were the top showings yesterday.

Matagorda in Big Field for Florida Derby

HOLLANDALE, Fla., March 21 (UP) — Matagorda, a handsome young colt with a hide like burnished gold, faces a big test today against an oversized field of 17 in the $100,000 Florida derby at Gulfstream Park.

A year ago Matagorda didn't win until his twelfth start. But this winter the son of Brown King won four of six starts at the Fair Grounds, climaxing a successful campaign by taking the $40,000 Louisiana Derby a week ago.

Now—against Powhatan, Mikeaby, Ace Destroyer, Sickles Sound, Money Broker, Sir Mango, Air Pine, Jamie K., Precious Stone, Dr. Stanley, Gulf Stream, Dark Star, Blaze, Slim, Ram O'War and Hit the Spot—he meets a tougher field.

Against class horses as a juvenile Matagorda was found wanting. In the East View stakes at Jamaica he finished 18 lengths behind champion Native Dancer. But Joe W. Brown's candidate for the triple crown is a much improved horse since then. In 1952 Matagorda earned $8925. This season he has amassed $48,375.

His status as a leading candidate for the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes depends upon how well he lives up to his role as probable favorite in the Florida Derby.

He inherited the role when he "name" horses dropped out of the mile and an eighth race.

Straight Face and Royal Bay Gem, winner and runner-up in the Flamingo Stakes, Tribe, which won a division of the Fountain of Youth Handicap with a broken foot, and Laffango, one of 1952's leading two-year-olds, all dropped out.

But Matagorda will get plenty of competition. G. & G. stable's Money Broker who chased him home in the Louisiana Derby, also was flown to Florida from New Orleans for the race. That air trip upset Matagorda and for a while it appeared he would not start. But he was pronounced fit and ready this morning.

Matagorda, with Jockey Pete Bailed slated to ride shares high weight of 126 pounds with Ace Destroyer but, in addition to Money Broker, Ram O'War, Jamie K., Dark Star and Slim are expected to furnish the main contention.

Kansas Cityan Named President of A.B.C.

CHICAGO, March 21 (AP) — William Kuster, 62, head of a Kansas City, Mo., seed company, was elected president of the American Bowling Congress yesterday. Kuster, who will take over Aug. 1, succeeds George A. Obenauer, Buffalo, N. Y.

Empowering city associations to increase entry fees for city tourneys to as much as $5 (previous top was $3).

Qualifying league members for high score recognition by their respective leagues and the ABC even though a full legal lineup is not present.

There were no changes in standings yesterday. Top singles and all-events scores for the day were the 682 and 1876 of Robert Ramsey, Fort Wayne, Ind. Eddie Furman and Theodore Kroon, Grand Rapids, Mich., had the day's best doubles total, 1237.

Pinckneyville to Play La Grange In Feature Game

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., March 21 (INS)—Pre-tourney favorites dominate the picture today as the Illinois "Sweet 16" state high school basketball championships reach the semi-finals and final stage at Champaign.

The thrilling action which started last Wednesday night hits the feverish stage at Huff Gymnasium.

The two powerhouses of the tourney, unbeaten La Grange and Pinckneyville, meet in the first semi-final this afternoon. Later in the afternoon, Peoria Central will battle Schlarman of Danville.

The semi-finals winners play for the title in the second game of the night program. In the first contest, the losers will battle for consolation honors.

Sets Tourney Record.

Yesterday's quarter-finals were featured by the one-man show put on by giant center Ted Caiazza, who paced La Grange to a 75 to 43 triumph over St. Teresa of Decatur. Caiazza, six feet seven inches tall and weighing 235 pounds, set a tournament record when he scored all 21 points credited to his team in the first period. Ted's game total of 38 points broke a tourney record of 36 set by Max Hooper in the Mount Vernon-Danville game in 1950.

Caiazza was immense but it is doubtful if his tremendous display of individual prowess was enjoyed more by the jam-packed crowd than the two desperate battles waged by Jacksonville against Pinckneyville and by West Frankfort against Peoria Central.

Both Jacksonville and West Frankfort were decided underdogs but fought so furiously all the way that the games were not decided until the final gun.

Pinckneyville edged Jacksonville, 58 to 57, with the losers' center, Ed Harrell, all but forcing the game into overtime when he tossed a basket which fell just one point short of tying the score in the closing seconds. Harrell scored 22 points in the contest and was tied for top honors by Ron Pursell of Pinckneyville.

Decided in Last Second.

The Peoria Central-West Frankfort struggle was another dog fight which rolled either way in a fiercely contested final period. Finally, Hiles Stout, Peoria's husky center, decided it for his team with a basket in the very last second of play. The final score was 70 to 68 in favor of Peoria. Forward Bud Ellis was high man for West Frankfort with 16 points.

Schlarman of Danville, sparked by six-foot nine-inch Tony Davis, its fast-moving center, rolled over favored Ottawa, 56 to 43, in the other quarter-final. Davis scored 22 points and staved off as many more by his defensive work under his own basket. Forward Pete Meckenstock with 16 points was high man for Ottawa.

LESLIE TEMPLE (right) of the Rock A.C. ties up PALMER HUBBARD of Vashon in their 160-pound title bout in the Ozark A.A.U. tournament at Alhambra Grotto. Temple, Golden Gloves champion, gained the decision.

Dean and Johnson Retain Ozark A.A.U. Boxing Titles, Liston Wins by Default

By Neal Russo.

It may be jumping the gun a bit, but Charles Liston, Bernard Dean and Don Johnson would do well to brush up on their Spanish.

They appear to be the Ozark A.A.U.'s best hopes in the National A.A.U. boxing tournament at Boston starting April 13 and the winners in the New England meet are likely to compete in matches planned at Buenos Aires.

Dean of Tandy Center retained his 112-pound crown and Johnson kept his 126-pound title in the Ozark finals last night at Alhambra Grotto. Liston, a heavyweight phenomenon from Ringside A.C., didn't have to lift a glove in the tournament, but is new champion of the big boys.

Announcement of the names of the boxers selected to go to the nationals has been held up pending a poll of ring officials and Ozark committee members. But the three mentioned are virtually sure to make the Boston trip.

Liston's Opponent Defaults.

As in the semi-final round, Liston's scheduled title bout foe, Robert Johnson of Rock A.C., defaulted.

"Johnson has no business in the ring with Liston," Tony Anderson, one of Liston's handlers and coach of Johnson, said in announcing he was pulling Johnson out of the match.

Anderson said he had been connected with boxing for 35 years, had never seen one of his boxers injured seriously, and didn't intend to take a chance with Robert Johnson against strong-man Liston.

Liston, who will bid for the national Golden Gloves title in Chicago Thursday, has been having more and more trouble finding opponents. His handlers hope he can come through in Boston, too, and make the Pan American trip to keep busy.

Dean floored Robert Young of Vashon Center in the first round and kayoed his man with a right to the jaw at 1:28 of the second round. Johnson did't appear as sharp as usual against William White of Vashon but was impressive enough in the three-minutes-a-round action.

Temple Wins Over Hubbard.

The Rock A. C.'s Leslie Temple made good use of his height and reach advantages to outpoint Palmer Hubbard of Vashon in the 160-pound division.

In a rather tame match, Leon Brooks of Vashon scored an easy victory over Floyd Lyles of Mullanphy at 135 pounds. Southpaw Cornelius Fowler of Neighborhood Association pounded out an easy triumph over Andy Gasparovic at 118 pounds and Sam Williams of Carr Square took the 147-pound title when Jerry Schoen of South Broadway suffered a cut under the left eye and was ruled loser on a T.K.O. after 1:33 of the first round.

Ronald Conover of South Broadway became 175-pound winner without fighting. His scheduled foe in the final, stablemate John Flynn, was not permitted to box because of eye cuts suffered Thursday.

Shortest bout was the 16-second first-round kayo scored by Willie Anderson of Gamble Center over Kenneth Love of Tandy. A hard right brought the man down in the 147-pound sub-novice final.

Hawkins Leads In Golf Tourney

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 21 (UP)—Dark-horses Fred Hawkins and Jay Hebert were running one-two today as a blue ribbon field teed off in the second round of the $10,000 Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

Tourney favorites Sammy Snead and Jim Ferrier were only four strokes off the pace with 695, but were tied for eleventh position in the par-busting field.

Hawkins, a tourney veteran from Antioch, Ill., who has not won a big tourney since the Cavalier Open at Virginia Beach, Va., in 1950, was the sensation of the opening round as he pared seven strokes from par with 63 over the difficult Hyde Park course. He posted four birdies and one bogey for 33 on the front nine and two birdies and an Eagle for 32 on the back nine.

Hebert, of Erie, Pa., matched Hawkins' 33 going out, but took 33 coming back to finish with 66.

Marty Furgol of Lamont, Ill., and Art Doering of Cincinnati tied for third at 67. Six players were tied at 68—Jerry Barber of Lacanada, Calif.; Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N.J.; Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa.; John Barnum of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mike Homa of Rye, N.Y., and Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N.Y.

Schucart Bowls 721.

Lou Schucart, member of the Hawkins five in the Saratoga Classic League, rolled a 721 series, including high single game of 279, at Saratoga Lanes. Schucart carries a 180 average.

SCHOOL TAX STILL LOW IF 14-CT. RISE IS VOTED—HICKEY

St. Louis Would Continue 18th Among 20 Cities in Amount Levied, Superintendent Asserts.

Approval of the proposed 14-cent increase in the public school tax rate would leave St. Louis still eighteenth among the nation's 20 largest cities in amount levied for school purposes, Superintendent of Instruction Philip J. Hickey said yesterday.

Only New Orleans and Buffalo have school tax rates lower than that of St. Louis, and the increase here would not affect these standings, Hickey pointed out in a radio broadcast over station WEW.

The Board of Education has recommended that the present tax rate of $1.01 for each $100 of assessed property valuation be increased to $1.15. The proposal will be submitted to voters at the April 7 city election.

Higher Levies in County.

"A look at the school tax rates in neighboring school districts also shows the St. Louis rate to be much lower," Hickey said. Some county rates, he added, range from $2.35 in Affton to $3.43 in Webster Groves.

Cost of operation of the St. Louis school system, the superintendent said, is generally lower than in cities of comparable size. Cost per pupil is $262 a year, less than in 11 other cities in the St. Louis population bracket.

"This is accomplished," Hickey said, "because we carry the second highest number of elementary school pupils per teacher. The St. Louis schools are trying hard to reduce these numbers."

Failure of the proposed tax increase to win approval will result in reversion of the rate to the 89 cents permitted to be levied without an election, and school officials have warned this will mean a two-year operating deficit of $8,320,000.

"Can't Let Schools Slip."

"We cannot afford to let our public schools slip during these critical days," Hickey declared. "The forces of Communism have grown stronger throughout the world. The real job of American public schools is to teach democracy, to nurture and strengthen it among our children."

James J. Fitzgerald, president of the Board of Education and a leader in the campaign for the higher tax levy, was honored last night for 20 years' service on the school board by the Parent-Teacher Association of Dewey School, 6746 Clayton avenue.

In a surprise ceremony at the school, Fitzgerald, who has announced he will retire as school board president this year, was presented with a scroll by Echeal Feinstein, past president of the Dewey School P.-T.A.

The scroll praised Fitzgerald's "two decades of faithful and loyal service to his community as a member of the Board of Education, his interest in and devotion to the welfare of all children and his courage and integrity in promoting their welfare."

Fitzgerald and Feinstein, who is chairman of a citizens' committee directing the campaign for the increased school tax rate, urged persons present to support the new levy in brief addresses.

VICTIM OF SHOOTING, AUTO CRASH DIES; AUTOPSY SET

An autopsy will be performed to determined whether John Hughes, 19 years old, died from the effects of a bullet wound or injuries suffered in an automobile collision while on his way to Homer G. Phillips Hospital for treatment of the wound early today.

Hughes, a Negro, was shot in the face when seated in a poolroom at 3807 Cook avenue shortly after midnight. Mack Harding, a Negro, 3865 Cook avenue, told police he pulled the trigger of his revolver under the impression the weapon was not loaded.

The bullet struck Hughes, who left the poolroom and started for the hospital in his automobile. In the 4200 block of St. Ferdinand avenue his machine collided with a taxicab and a parked automobile. Police, who found Hughes dead in the machine, said the impact had thrown him against the windshield, breaking the glass. Harding has booked suspected of homicide.

TEN IN ONE FAMILY KILLED WHEN AUTO AND TRUCK CRASH

Man, Wife, 5 Children, His Mother and Two Sisters Victims at Washington, N.J.

WASHINGTON, N. J., March 21 (AP)—A dairy farmer and nine members of his family lost their lives in a head-on highway collision as they were on their way to do the weekly shopping.

The National Safety Council said in Chicago that, so far as it knew, "it was the greatest number of people ever to be killed as occupants of a single passenger automobile."

Their 1953 sedan was crumbled in a crash with a trailer truck on a two-lane road near here last night.

Killed outright were Clarence Matlock, 32 years old, who operated a 60-cow dairy farm in rural Silver Lake, N.J., his wife, Alma, 29; three daughters, Esther, 10; Joan, 5, and Rosemary, 2; a son, Clarence Jr., 1; his mother, Elizabeth, 75, and his two sisters, Grace, 48 and Mary, 50.

Another son, Raymond, the only member of the family taken from the automobile alive, died in Warren Hospital, Phillipsburg, early this morning—on his eighth birthday.

Two men in the truck were not injured. They were the driver, John Scarantino of Scranton, Pa., and the owner, Lawrence Butler of Dunmore, Pa.

Scarantino was booked at state police barracks here on a technical charge of causing death by auto.

Butler told police his truck was following a coal truck when the coal truck put on its brakes and pulled over to the right shoulder of the road.

Then they saw a car coming straight at them, Butler said, and Scarantino pulled across the left lane onto the left shoulder to try to avoid the automobile.

The car also pulled for the same shoulder, Butler reported, and the vehicles collided.

The accident occurred about 7:30 p.m. A short time later, Matlock's brother, Raymond, also headed for Washington's shopping center, came upon the wreck on the highway.

He said the family always made a Friday night shopping trip to this community and this trip was a special occasion because it was the eve of young Raymond's birthday.

The two Matlock brothers and their mother operated three dairy farms near Silver Lake. Relatives said Mrs. Matlock is survived by 70 grandchildren.

W. FREELAND KENDRICK DIES; FOUNDER OF SHRINE HOSPITALS

PHILADELPHIA, March 21 (UP) — W. Freeland Kendrick, founder of 17 Shrine hospitals for crippled children, died in University Hospital yesterday. Mr. Kendrick was Mayor of Philadelphia from 1924 to 1928 and former imperial potentate of the Shriners of North America. He was 78 years old.

He launched the Shrine hospitals for crippled children with an appeal at his election in 1932 as imperial potentate for the then 500,000 members to contribute to a fund for such hospitals. He became chairman of the board of trustees of the project.

The 17 hospitals are scattered throughout the United States, and in Canada, Mexico and Hawaii. Mr. Kendrick once described them as the world's greatest private philanthropy."

SNOWSLIDE BURIES SKIERS IN JAPAN, SIX ARE KILLED

TOKYO, March 21 (AP)—Six skiers were killed and several others injured today when an avalanche of snow buried a skiing party on Hokkaido island's highest mountain, the newspaper Shimbun reported.

Army rescue teams pulled out those caught in the snow after hours of digging. Some of the rescued skiers were seriously injured.

The newspaper said an avalanche 200 yards wide hit a 26-man skiing party about noon. It lasted for five minutes. One of the victims was a photographer for the Shimbun, assigned to take pictures of the expedition.

VAN FLEET SAYS 'INDECISION' IS MAIN U.N. FOE IN KOREA

GAINESVILLE, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet said today the democratic nations "have nothing to fear but indecision" in the Korean war and they must end the conflict with a military victory.

The retiring commander of the Eighth Army, in a speech delivered at a University of Florida centennial convocation, said "this is a war we must win."

"We can defeat Communism in Korea and on any other front in which it seeks to advance without getting involved in World War III if— and I emphasize this 'if'—if we act boldly and with decision.

"Aggression is always encouraged by timidity and caution. It is always discouraged and checked by decisiveness and courage. We cannot drift to security. We must drive ahead to win it."

He praised the Republic of Korea army and the other United Nations forces he commanded in Korea as "a hopeful and concrete indication of the ability of diverse nationalities and tongues to fight together for a common cause."

EARLY BLOOMING OF FLOWERS AT GRAY SUMMIT ARBORETUM

Mild temperature in the St. Louis area has brought out blossoms on acres of yellow daffodils and other flowers at Gray Summit Arboretum of Missouri Botanical Garden two weeks earlier than usual. The arboretum is at the junction of United States Highways 50 and 66, southwest of St. Louis.

Edgar Anderson, assistant director, said the cool weather forecast for tomorrow would help preserve the display and unless there is a period of hot weather, blooms should remain at their peak for another week.

The display can be seen by automobile from two miles of driveway in the arboretum. It includes a Chinese magnolia called Yulan, which rarely has enough blossoms to be noticed by visitors.

Flashes of Life

Versatile Cashier.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bank Teller Ernest Bazinet chased the man who robbed him of $450 in a branch of Security-First National Bank. Then he hailed a police car he saw during the chase, overtook the holdup man in an alley, rammed his car, got out and tackled the fleeing robber, and held him until aid arrived. Police said they recovered the $450 from the pockets of a man who gave the name of Ted R. Palacios.

CHICAGO (INS)—"Mr. X" has difficulty speaking English so he obtained help from internal revenue agents in filling out his income tax.

The agents breathed a sigh of relief Monday when the task was completed, and the man signed his "X" to the document and walked away. "Mr. X" returned Friday and sent clerks scurrying through a huge pile of returns until they found his income tax forms. He then added another "X," explaining in broken English that he has two names.

Dummy 'Suicide.'

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—The harbor patrol has cleared up the mystery of the "headless body" found floating in a river.

An investigation disclosed the "body" was a store window dummy, minus its head. Attached to the "corpse" was a note which read: "Goodby cruel world. They took my brother and sister to use in the atomic bomb test. That's not for me. Goodby."

$531,661 PLEDGED TO RED CROSS IN $1,257,092 DRIVE

Employes of Several Concerns Increase Donations — Many Mothers Solicit Funds.

Contributions totaling $531,661 have been made in the 1953 Red Cross fund drive to raise $1,257,092, it was announced today. The campaign began March 2.

Employes of the Veterans' Administration, regional office, 415 Pine street, gave $1150, which was an increase of 4 per cent over their 1952 donations.

Other firms whose employes increased the amount of their contributions this year include: St. Louis Union Trust Co., 323 North Broadway, 19 per cent above last year; Prudential Insurance Co., district agency 5, 7250A Natural Bridge road, 33 per cent more than last year; Lawton, Byrne, Bruner Insurance Agency, 401 Pine street, 12 per cent increase over 1952.

"Another significant trend is that many mothers are volunteering as solicitors for funds so that money will be available to produce the gamma globulin needed this summer to fight polio," Richard Baldwin, campaign chairman, said.

"The Red Cross fund drive is not only an opportunity but a challenge to every mother to work so that our goal will be met, now that there is at least a hope of preventing the paralyzing effects of polio through the use of the new blood serum, gamma globulin," Baldwin added.

He said that every pint of blood now collected not only provides a weapon against polio but also "provides the blood fraction, serum albumin, which may save the life of a soldier in Korea."

LARGEST BLIMP ALOFT 42 MINUTES IN ITS FIRST TEST

AKRON, O., March 21 (AP)—A crew of 13 Goodyear Aircraft Corp. personnel stayed aloft 42 minutes yesterday in the first test flight of the biggest blimp in the world.

Although no official report of its performance was made, the big airship appeared to make the flight without mishap.

The blimp, designated as ZP2N, is the first production model of the Navy's largest non-rigid airship. Its dimensions were not disclosed, but it is known to be bigger than the ZPN-1, built by Goodyear and delivered to the Naval Air Station at Lakehurst, N.J., last June 17.

The ZPN-1 is 324 feet long and can hold 875,000 cubic feet of helium.

CANCER SOCIETY WITHDRAWS FROM U.S. HEALTH COUNCIL

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—The American Cancer Society has withdrawn from the National Health Council, indicating it needed all its funds for additional research. A spokesman said yesterday its only reason for withdrawing from the council was a monetary one. The A. C. S. had contributed $10,000 yearly to the operation of the council. The society is devoted to research, education and service in the field of cancer.

Earlier yesterday the council announced that its new president would be Robin C. Buerki, director of the Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit. Buerki will succeed Mrs. Oswald B. Lord, recently named by President Eisenhower as United States representative to the United Nations Commission on Human Rights.

Chosen president-elect, which means automatic succession to the presidency in March 1954, was Albert W. Dent, president of Dillard University, New Orleans, La. Dent, a Negro, served as a vice president during the last year.

TWO PERSONS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Machines Run Off Highway Near Wentzville and Hecker, Ill.

Two persons were killed in automobile accidents in the St. Louis area last night and early today.

A man in whose pockets were papers bearing the name of Rushel O. Dunn, 2215A Warren street, was killed when his automobile failed to make a curve on U.S. Highway 61 two miles north of Wentzville, the State Highway Patrol reported.

Dunn, 26 years old, a machinist, apparently lost control of the vehicle, which overturned several times, throwing him out and against a tree, highway patrolmen said. They said he was alone in the car. The body was taken to a funeral home in Wentzville.

Dwight Davis, Red Bud, Ill., sawmill operator, was killed last night when his automobile ran off the road and struck a tree. Davis, who was alone in the car, was driving on State Highway 159 near Hecker, Ill., the Illinois Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said Davis, who was 30 years old, apparently dozed and lost control of the vehicle. Hecker is about 25 miles southeast of St. Louis.

TWO YEARS FOR KILLING MAN

Robert Bostic, 2409 Dickson street, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary yesterday by Circuit Judge Waldo C. Mayfield after being found guilty of manslaughter.

He was charged with the fatal stabbing of Isaac Stewart, 38, 4202 Page boulevard, last June 28 during a fight in the 2700 block of Franklin avenue.

Administration Stands Pat on Bohlen

Dulles declared, and he has every expectation that the security officer will stay on in his present post.

Asked how he could explain McCarran's allegations that he and McLeod had differed, and that McLeod had threatened to quit, Dulles replied that some people's processes of reasoning were obscure to him.

McLeod conferred yesterday with Brig. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, one of Eisenhower's assistants, and there were reports afterward that the security officer had urged the White House to overrule Dulles on the Bohlen case. Asked if he knew why McLeod had called on Gen. Persons, Dulles said he did not.

Reports also circulated here yesterday that McLeod had revealed material in the FBI reports on Bohlen to Senators opposed to the diplomat's nomination, and Dulles was asked if he knew whether McLeod had done this. The Secretary replied he was confident McLeod had not. In reply to further questions, Dulles said he had not asked McLeod whether he had disclosed information in the reports and did not plan to ask him. He is not proceeding on the theory that he must act as a security officer on his own security officer, the Secretary added.

It would be a violation of Government security regulations for McLeod to reveal material from FBI reports, Dulles said in response to another question.

McLeod himself has not yet received final loyalty and security clearance for his new post in the department, the Secretary conceded to still another questioner. The most recent full FBI check on McLeod was made in 1947, Dulles said, and a full new investigation of him is now under way.

The only derogatory material in the FBI reports on Bohlen were three or four totally unsubstantiated allegations, the Secretary declared. These were even less substantial than rumors, Dulles said. Some of the sources of these allegations were anonymous. Others were opponents of policy decisions with which Bohlen's name has been identified.

Dulles indicated that critics of the Big Three Yalta conference were responsible for some of these criticisms. Bohlen was an interpreter and adviser to President Roosevelt at Yalta.

Asked if he could ascertain who Bohlen's anonymous critics were, Dulles said he didn't know but believed he could.

Adverse Comment Usually Found.

The Secretary went on to say that adverse comment was almost invariably to be found in FBI reports, partly because agents make a special effort to obtain such material. Discharged servants and business competitors of the person being investigated are interviewed, for example. His own FBI file undoubtedly contains derogatory information of this sort, Dulles said.

Asked what the effect would be if the adverse allegations against Bohlen should be brought out on the floor of the Senate, Dulles said such action would make it almost impossible, and probably quite impossible, to get high caliber people into Government service. It would put an end to the willingness of men of standing and repute in their communities to accept public office, he asserted.

Told that McCarran had said the Bohlen case was an "acid test" of the new Administration's pledges to clean out the State Department, Dulles retorted that the case was indeed an acid test, but not of the Administration's pledges.

"I think it is an acid test of the orderly processes of our Government," he declared.

"There was a thorough investigation (on Bohlen), the reports were brought before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, they were discussed there with me for a period of nearly three hours, and then the committee voted unanimously to report the nomination out to the floor of the Senate.

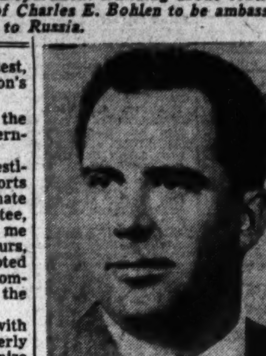

"If matters can't be dealt with and disposed of in that orderly way, it will very much disorganize the conduct of public affairs and foreign affairs at a very critical moment in history."

McLeod did not show up today for a session of McCarthy's subcommittee, at which McCarthy had planned to question him about Bohlen. McCarthy said he understood McLeod had orders not to appear, but did not say who gave any such order.

Tobey Charges Effort 'to Stab President in Back.'

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Senator Tobey (Rep.), New Hampshire, entering the fight over Charles E. Bohlen's nomination as Ambassador to Russia, today denounced Republican opponents for trying "to stab the President in the back."

"They will not succeed," the Senator declared, "and Bohlen will be confirmed Monday in an overwhelming vote of confidence in Eisenhower."

One of the leaders in the fight on Bohlen is G.O.P. Senator Bridges, Senate temporary president and Tobey's colleague from New Hampshire.

Group of "Willful Men."

Tobey mentioned no names, but he told a reporter:

"The opposition comes from a little group of willful men. For 20 years we've been trying to get a Republican Administration. Instead of upholding the President, they are trying to block him and put daggers in his back. They are attacking the President and trying to undermine his Administration.

"These critics are not worthy to unlace either Acheson's or Bohlen's shoes."

Dean Acheson, when Secretary of State under former President Truman, was heavily criticized by Republicans, particularly McCarthy.

Tobey was the first G.O.P. Senator to speak out so sharply in an obvious slap at McCarthy, chairman of the Senate's Permanent Investigating Committee.

Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, like Tobey a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said Secretary of State Dulles told the committee there were four derogatory items in the FBI files on Bohlen, compared with a long list of favorable reports.

'Hearsay Reports.'

George said the derogatory information was contained in an anonymous letter and what he called "hearsay reports" that the 48-year-old career officer had associated with some sort of "dissolute persons."

"Dulles said there was no direct charge of any kind against Bohlen and the rumors about him carried no direct charge, only that he had associated with some bad eggs," George said.

McCarthy told reporters he had known of the contents of Bohlen's FBI file, "for years," and that "security risk was too weak a word" for the career diplomat, known as an expert on Russia.

"From all the information we have it would appear that any statement that McLeod and Dulles agreed that Bohlen should be cleared from the security standpoint is completely untrue," McCarthy said.

SENATOR SAYS HE WON'T TAKE INQUIRY JOB WITH GAG RULE

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 21—Senator John J. Williams (Rep.), Delaware, who first unearthed the income tax scandals last year, announced yesterday that he would not serve on a Senate Finance subcommittee named to investigate the Bureau of Internal Revenue under newly-adopted rules which might be used to "censor" Republican corruption.

Senator Williams, who had been slated to head the subcommittee, said he did not expect the Finance Committee to change the rule it adopted Thursday which would prohibit members of the subcommittee from disclosing anything uncovered in its investigation without approval of the full committee.

"If this rule was carried out for all investigating committees, it would be possible for the majority party to put a lid on investigations of abuses of the party in power," he told the Senate in announcing his decision.

Senator Williams later told reporters that, while he would not serve on the subcommittee under such a "restriction," he would continue as an individual Senator to look into alleged corruption in the Internal Revenue Bureau. As an individual, however, he will have no access to bureau records or to income tax returns.

ADM. BLANDY GIVES ALL-OUT FORMULA FOR KOREA VICTORY

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—Retired Adm. W. H. P. Blandy says victory in Korea requires the "whole works":

A British-American naval blockade of China.

Bombing of Red bases in Manchuria.

Employment of Chiang Kai-shek's forces against the mainland.

And stepped-up offensive fighting in Indochina with United States-equipped Vietnam divisions.

Blandy, former Atlantic fleet commander, outlined this program last night in a speech to the Naval Academy Graduates Association.

CALIFORNIA SENATE BARS RED TEACHERS IN STATE COLLEGES

SACRAMENTO, Calif., March 21 (UP)—The California State Senate has approved a bill designed to keep Communists and Communist sympathizers out of teaching posts in the state's colleges.

The bill, approved unanimously yesterday, provides that membership in or active support of any Communist organization is ground for immediate dismissal.

A spokesman for the State Department of Education said the bill would strengthen the hand of the college administrators in removing subversives while, at the same time, guaranteeing the rights of college employes. Under the bill, any employe dismissed would have the right to demand a review of his case by the state personnel board where the charges would have to be proved.

WATCHMAN KILLS EX-CONVICT ATTEMPTING HOLDUP BY BLUFF

William D. Jones, two-time former convict, was shot and killed by a 76-year-old watchman when he tried to hold up a candy and tobacco store at 3218 Easton avenue last night.

Jones, 30 years old, a Negro, entered the store with one hand in his coat pocket, as if he had a weapon. He ordered Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Malnik, the proprietors, to lie on the floor after announcing, "This is a holdup." He apparently failed to notice the watchman, William Bolden, a Negro, who was seated behind a stove.

Bolden told police he fired two revolver shots across the top of the stove. Jones, wounded in the chest, fell to the floor. He was dead when police reached the scene.

Jones, who lived in the 3900 block of North Market street, served terms for robbery in Missouri and Arkansas, his record showed. He was bluffing in last night's holdup attempt. Examination revealed that he was not armed. Bolden, who lives at 3147½ Sheridan avenue, is employed by the Malniks to watch their store.

EUROPEAN PLAN FOR COMMON AGRICULTURAL POOL MODIFIED

PARIS, March 21 (AP)—Representatives of 17 West European governments agreed yesterday to plan a common agricultural market on an inter-governmental rather than a supranational basis.

Meeting in the so-called "green pool" conference, the agriculture ministers indorsed establishment of an interim committee instructed to frame definite proposals for such a common market before next Sept. 30.

Dutch Agriculture Minister S. L. Manshogo who fought single-handedly, for a supranational agency patterned after the Schuman plan, bowed to the majority. He said Holland wants to contribute to the success of the new organization.

MOTHER ADMITS THROWING HER TWO BABIES INTO SEA

JUNEAU, Alaska, March 21 (AP)—A 31-year-old mother of four children told police yesterday she put her two babies into their carriage, wheeled them a block from home to the waterfront and threw them off the dock.

The body of her 18-month-old girl was recovered but her month-old boy was missing.

Police identified the mother as Mrs. Betty Ritter. She was arrested but no charges were filed immediately. She and her husband, Russell, a taxicab driver, were separated.

BULLET FIRED INTO WINDOW OF U.S. EMBASSY IN TOKYO

TOKYO, March 21 (AP)—Someone fired a pistol or rifle slug thorugh a second floor window of the United States embassy here today. The bullet crashed through the window of the office of Frank Waring, economic counselor, and struck the wall.

"It fell to the floor, indicating it had pretty well spent itself," a spokesman said, "Whoever fired the shot couldn't have been aiming at Frank because the venetian blinds were closed."

The office of Ambassador Robert Murphy is on the same floor, but the other side of the building. Japanese police are investigating.

Mickey Jelke Taken to Jail.

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke, cafe society and vice figure and oleomargarine heir, was taken in a police van today to Rikers Island to begin serving an eight month workhouse sentence for possessing two pistols. One was found in his automobile and one in his apartment when the 23-year-old play boy was arrested in the vice case last August.

STEERS AND LAMBS HIGHER FOR WEEK, HOGS DECLINE

ST. LOUIS LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE, March 21—Only 140 hogs arrived today and these were carried over until Monday. No cattle, calves or sheep arrived.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, March 21 (USDA weekly review of livestock market):

Steers and heifers advanced 50c@$1 with some up more, in a week of active trading, while cows closed steady to 50c higher after losing part of initial week gains. Bulls were uneven, mostly steady, although severe pressure on the close of week Friday was evident. Vealers went unchanged throughout the period. High Choice 1133-lb steers attained $23.25, with 1031-lb steers along with 812 to 1011 lb. mixed steers and heifers $23. Most Good and Choice steers and heifers cleared at $20@23. Utility and Commercial steers and heifers sold mainly at $16@19.50. Utility and Commercial cows sold largely at $14@16, a few to $17. Utility and Commercial bulls bulked at $15.50@17.50, mostly $17 down late. Individual head of Prime vealers scored $30@31, Good and Choice largely $23@27.

Compared with close of last week, 180-280 lb. barrows and gilts closed 75c@$1 lower, over 280 lb 25@50c down, 170 lb down 50@75c lower and sows weak to 25c lower. Top prices this week ranged from $20.85 Friday to $21.75 Monday. Sows sold up to $20 early in the week, bulk late $19.50 down. For the week, bulk of 180-230 lb sold at $20.75@21.60; 230-270 lb $19.75@21.35; 270-330 lb $19.50@20.35; 150-170 lb $19.50@21.25; 260-400 lb sows $18.75@20; heavier sows $16.75@18.75.

Slaughter lambs closed the week 25@50c higher, other classes unchanged. Wooled lambs topped at $24, bulk choice and prime $22.50@23.50 with good and choice $21@22.50; cull and utility $15@18. Fall clipped lambs bulked at $22.50@23, a few $23.50, and a load of choice and prime with No. 2 pelts brought $21. Twenty-five head of spring lambs, first of the season, sold at $24.50.

LIVESTOCK ELSEWHERE

CHICAGO, March 21 (INS)—Cattle and lamb prices finished higher at Midwest Livestock markets the past week. Hogs were lower.

The upturn reflected smaller farm shipments and had no support from wholesale markets for dressed beef. Demand for dressed beef generally was slow at prices mostly unchanged from a week earlier and around 13 to 18 cents per pound under a year ago.

One carload of prime, 1157-pound steers topped at $28.50 at Chicago and were followed by other high-choice to prime grade offerings from $25 to $28 a hundred pounds. Elsewhere, high-choice to prime grades from $23.50 to $24.75 were the best available steers, although Omaha had some prime mixed steers and heifers at a top of $25.

Prices of hogs closed as much as 75 cents lower at Chicago with late top at $21, down $1.10 from the seven-month peak reached Monday.

Closing hog prices ranged up to tops of $20.75 to $21.60 at cornbelt terminals. Late bulk sales of 180 to 240-pound butchers were $20.50 to $21.50, with 240 to 300-pound offerings at $19.50 to $21.

Demand for lambs was active and prices were higher in sympathy with strength in the dressed trade, which offset the influence of heavy marketings.

Highest prices went to scattered shipments of spring lambs which brought up to $24.50. Old crop wooled lambs reached peaks of $24 to $24.25 at eastern cornbelt terminals. Most good to prime lambs sold over the market circuit from $21 to $23.25.

SMALL GAINS MARK NARROW STOCK TRADE

New Check on Market After Tax Collector Takes Toll.

NEW YORK, March 21 (UP)—Stocks scored a small net gain in the past week, with fluctuations on a much smaller scale than a week ago. Three things operated against the list after the tax man took his toll on Monday. A new Soviet airplane incident, a wage increase for railroad workers and a reiteration of the Administration statement of no tax cut until the budget is in balance brought caution.

Sales were higher than in recent weeks. They averaged 1,910,489 shares daily compared with 1,707,424 shares daily a week ago. Volume crossed 2,000,000 shares in two sessions.

The list firmed on Monday and Tuesday and eased in the subsequent sessions. The over-all result was a gain for 716 of the 1423 issues traded. A total of 507 declined and 200 held unchanged on the week.

Industrial Stocks Up.

The Dow-Jones industrial average finished the week at 289.69, up 0.65 of a point from the previous week but about a full point under the week's high. The rail average did better despite the wage hike. It closed at 111.40, up 0.95 point and down less than a point from its high. Utilities eased slightly.

In addition to the end of the period where tax money must be raised by sale of stocks, the market had in its favor the end of all price controls.

This situation helped the sulphurs for a time before profit-taking set in and it had a good influence on the oils which also were aided in part by moves to pass a bill giving back the tidelands to the states.

Numerous special issues and groups were given trading attention but this type of business was less noticeable than in recent sessions. The tempering of speculative investment sentiment may have been caused in part by the approach of the averages to their highs since 1930.

Plight of Planes.

Big backlogs of orders and higher earnings helped the aircrafts rise to new highs for the year. However, higher production and predictions of more to come failed to help the automobile section. Chrysler lost more than a point, while General Motors held about steady.

Steels enjoyed a good market for a time on predictions of higher income for that group now that price controls have ended. They did practically nothing on the week, however.

Southern Railway, with a rise of 3¾ points, and Nickel Plate, with a gain of more than a point, featured the rails included in the averages.

Best gainers in the oils included Pan American Petroleum, up more than 10 points, and Texas Gulf Producing, up six points. Jersey Standard and Standard of California eased slightly.

Oscar Winner

Shirley Booth Feels She Scarcely Exists

By Cynthia Lowry

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP).

THE secret of Shirley Booth's success is her own deep conviction that any such person as Shirley Booth scarcely exists. This however, is a minority opinion held by a humble, skilled and completely stage-struck red-haired actress who in the last three years has swept the boards of just about every coveted acting trophy, the latest being the Oscar she was awarded Thursday for best movie actress of 1952.

SHIRLEY BOOTH

Miss Booth's opinion of Miss Booth is unanimously not shared by a large and growing company of fans, including her normally jealous colleagues to whom she is that rare thing, an actor's actress. It also is denied by New York's theater critics with whom she has been engaged for years in a mutually deep love affair.

At Broadway's Empire Theater she enjoys billing for which any performer would swap a duchy: The marquee starkly spells out, "Empire Theater —Shirley Booth." That's all, not even the play's title. This last, in the theater world, is really living. (The play, incidentally, is "The Time of the Cuckoo.")

★ ★ ★

"WHEN IT WENT UP THAT WAY at the end of rehearsals," said Miss Booth, removing her stage make-up and getting into street clothes after a matinee, "I kept waiting for them to finish the sign."

That's typical Booth. After the opening of the stage version of "Come Back, Little Sheba," three years ago, Miss Booth dropped into a popular theatrical restaurant for dinner. Every patron arose and applauded.

"Shirley turned around—to see who had come in," said one person who was there.

★ ★ ★

NOW AT THE PEAK of a long, substantial career in the theater, Miss Booth seems a little bewildered and slightly wistful about all the excitement.

"I'm shy," she said. I'm afraid one of the reasons I'm an actress is that I don't feel I'm much of anybody. The roles I play give me a personality. It's like armor, and I feel protected by it when I'm on the stage. I guess that's why I've never had stage fright. I even love opening nights."

She seemed a little depressed about the hubbub over her first movie, the same "Come Back, Little Sheba" which gave her stage career a big boost and which won her the movie Oscar.

"I wish all this hadn't happened so soon, so fast," she said helplessly. "I wish I'd been given a chance to do more films, to work up to this."

★ ★ ★

BUT SHE LIKES being a film actress, she confided over a hefty sirloin, baked potato with lots of butter and a glass of burgundy.

"In the theater, it's the audience," she explained. "You must invite them to come to you. You can't go out there and grab them.

"There's one thing I say about acting. All acting must be something that is overheard; it must never be listened to. In pictures I felt as though I were confiding a story to a friend in my living room. I'm signed for another picture later, and I hope I still feel that way about cameras."

★ ★ ★

LIKE EVERY VETERAN, she has some gruesome theatrical memories. Like a lucky few, she has some wonderful ones stretching back to the 1930s.

She was open-minded, livable Mable in "Three Men on a Horse," a wise-cracking girl photographer in "Philadelphia Story," brash, funny Ruth in "My Sister Eileen," a troubled foster-mother in "Tomorrow the World," generous Cissy in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," tragic, blundering Lola in "Come Back, Little Sheba," and now spinister Leona Samish in "The Time of the Cuckoo."

Looking back on these successes—and not forgetting her as the first Miss Duffy with her ex-husband Ed Gardner, on radio's "Duffy's Tavern" —it is evident that although Miss Booth has taken on a wide variety of roles, she has projected adroitly a hurt, lonely feeling, of tears ever lurking behind a brave front.

A friend, evaluating her acting style, remarked recently: "The funny thing about her career is that people never remember Shirley, but they always remember her parts."

★ ★ ★

SHE WAS A TRIM size 12 for both "Little Sheba" and for the current "Cuckoo." Yet as tragic Lola she seemed a woman with a thick, middle-aged body, unshapely legs and nondescript hair. As Leona Samish, she is a well-groomed career woman and her legs are as shapely as Betty Grable's.

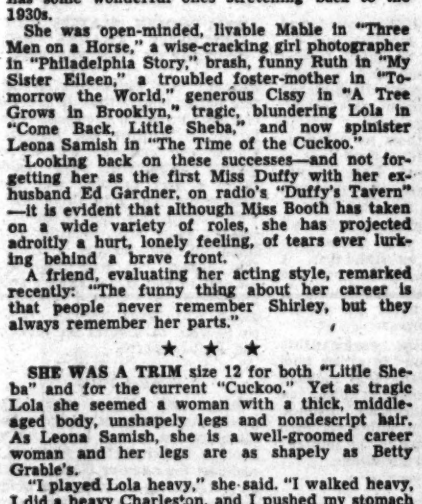

"I played Lola heavy," she said. "I walked heavy, I did a heavy Charleston, and I pushed my stomach out and waddled the way I saw a woman walking with her dog on Sixth avenue."

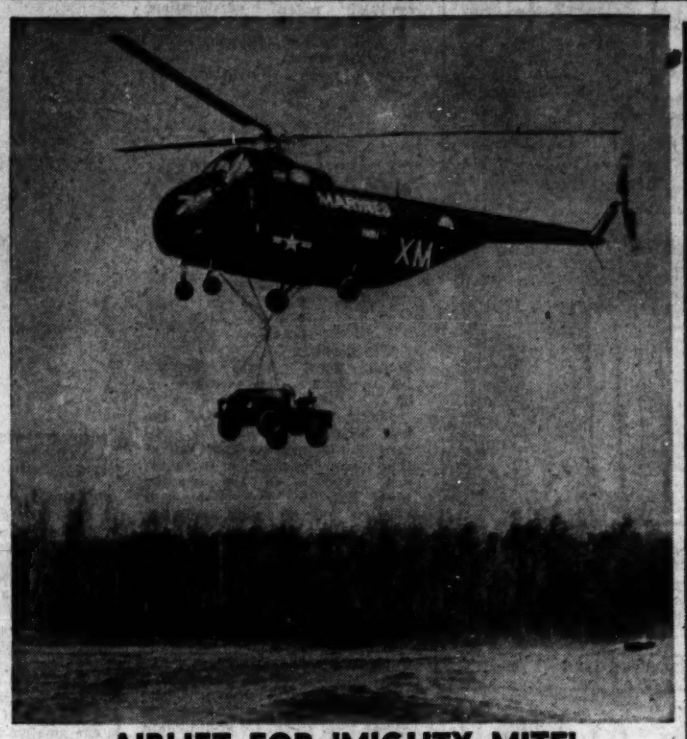

Off stage, she's an attractive woman who accepts the years—the records list 1907 as her birth date in New York City—because she has something more enduring than electric glamour and a cosmetic beauty.

She enjoys a quiet life and such untheatrical pursuits as moving furniture and straightening up bureau drawers. Her longest run in a domestic role came to an end shortly before the stage production of "Come Back, Little Sheba" opened. Her second husband, an investment banker, died.

She lives today in a pleasant apartment shared with a miniature French poodle named Pretty Prego after a line in her current play. Prego, in Italian, means "please."

AIRLIFT FOR 'MIGHTY MITE'

A big Marine helicopter gives a lift to the Marine Corps' new midget vehicle, the "Mighty Mite," during tests at the Quantico (Va.) proving grounds yesterday. The 96-inch, 1496-pound vehicle—shorter and lighter than the World War II jeep—can haul guns, climb steep hills and maneuver through heavy mud. Martha Carr's OPINION

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Dear Martha:

WHAT makes some girls think their families are better than their husband's family? My sister-in-law's family is welcome to drop in at her house anytime. They come in for meals and don't even help with a dish. She has a nice home, but we don't visit just when we feel like dropping in. We get invited ever so often at a set time and then a hint when to go home. We have always been a close family and had lots of good times together but some sisters-in-law can spoil it. He is not allowed to do anything for his family but it's just wonderful for him to do favors for her family. We believe in minding our own business so we are not trouble-making in-laws. But if some sisters-in-law would just go half-way, I think everyone would be a lot happier.

DISGUSTED.

Granted it's no fun to sit back and watch the others receiving more generous treatment, there would seem to be little you can do but to accept her invitations and enjoy your visits as much as possible under the circumstances. It is natural that she would feel a little more free and casual in her associations with her own family, but all young wives should remember that they can make their husbands happier by treating their-in-laws with courtesy and graciouness.

★ ★ ★

Dear Martha:

I AM 14 YEARS OLD and want advice. My girl friend is very attractive and has many boy friends while I sit at home. I can say that I am not ugly and am liked very much at school, but the boys don't notice me. When I have a date it is because my girl friend gets me one. How could I get the boys to notice me? I am on the chubby side. LONELY.

First of all, maybe you should trim down that figure a little, then begin to pay attention to other ways in which you can add to your attractiveness. The Y.W.C.A. has a charm course which will give you pointers on posture, clothes and personality.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO Perplexed: If you have cared for your brother for all these years, it doesn't seem quite fair to have to contribute also the money you have saved for your boy's education. Isn't there someone else in the family who can share this burden? If not, I would suggest that you talk with the social service department of the hospital where your brother is a patient to see if some way can't be found to help you.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO Shame: I would like to suggest that you get in touch with the Adult Education Council, 1125 Chemical Building, to see where you might find a special speech course which would be of help in your particular problem.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO Puzzled: Don't let that teasing worry you. It's a sign that the other girls like you. Take it in good humor, because if you show you are hurt or mad, they may pour it on all the more.

Gold-Digger Type

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

YOUNG WOMAN, are you a gold-digger? Before you explode in righteous indignation, let me tell you that you very well could be, and not be fully conscious of it. It will pay to examine yourself, because the gold-digger type is avoided by men and held in contempt by women.

Irma is, quite frankly, out to catch a man. So are practically all unattached women. That is to their credit. They should marry. But Irma is beginning to wonder whether she has slipped up somewhere along the line. She's had a hint that she may have misplayed a few cards.

★ ★ ★

"I WENT TO WORK in a department store a few months ago," she explains, "and one of my purposes was to meet men and have a chance to marry. I have made quite a few friends among the men who work here, but some of the girls don't seem to like me. Perhaps my vanity would lead me to charge them with jealousy, but I had a setback yesterday when one of these girls got particularly mad at me, bawled me out unmercifully, and ended by calling me a cheap gold-digger.

"I give you my word, Dr. Popenoe, that's the last thing in my mind. I have always thought that men liked to pay the bills when they dated girls, so I haven't suggested any Dutch dates. I thought this was your idea, too. But I don't think I'm the type that exploits men. I don't know what to think, now."

★ ★ ★

DON'T TAKE THE TAUNT of an enemy too seriously, Irma; although it would be worth while to consider why you have not been able to make more friends among your own sex. That's a bad sign. I'll take that up in another column. Right now, you (or any other girl) might check yourself on these counts:

1. I frequently give hints to men about treats I would like to have or entertainments that I would enjoy.
2. I go with some men whom I do not admire, and whom I would never think of marrying, merely because they are willing to pay for my entertainment.
3. If I meet, in a restaurant, some man whom I know, I usually expect him to pay for my lunch.
4. I think the idea of a 50-50 marriage is all wrong if it means that a wife who gets a salary should be expected to pay part of the expenses of the home from her earnings.
5. I deliberately study ways in which I can use my personality and charm to get favors from men with whom I am associated in a business way.

If you can honestly answer "Yes" to most of those, you are in danger, Irma, and you should watch your step. Try to find ways in which you can do your share. Otherwise you will have trouble in finding a husband or in keeping one if and when you acquire him.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A LETTER from a florist starting out in business asks me: "What would you think of offering an arrangement service—meaning by this that a skilled arrangement of the flowers be put in a glass receptacle so that instead of having to find a container and arrange them, all the recipient need do is to fill the container with water?"

In answer to this, I have, in the last few years, received several quite wonderful arrangements in glass containers with a tag asking, "Please fill with water immediately." I am describing this especially as a suggestion to those who are sending flowers to people in hospitals or those staying in hotels where flower vases are hard to find and flowers not quickly put into water will all too soon wilt.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: Will you please give me your opinion on the following two problems? I would like to show your answers to a man friend who thinks I am old-fashioned because I insist that it is improper for a girl to go to a man's apartment alone. He says it is perfectly all right provided she leaves by 11 o'clock. Also, I contend that a young woman living alone should meet her "date" in the lobby and not have him come up to her apartment.

Answer: You are absolutely right on the first count, but the rule is not so strict on the second.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo

My Day

By Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK.

BACK in New York City from the sunny state of Florida, which now seems far distant, my first errand was to try and get my hair presentable again. Swimming in salt water does not preserve one's curl if it is artificial.

My whole afternoon on Thursday, was spent at the office of the American Association for the United Nations, where I tried to catch up on mail and also attended an Executive Committee meeting.

My eldest son, James, flew in from the West Coast, and it is great fun having him stay with me. I hope we will have a weekend at Hyde Park together.

★ ★ ★

I WAS SHOCKED on Wednesday to read in a New York City newspaper, which I bought at the Jacksonville (Fla.) airport, of the death of Joseph Alsop of Avon, Conn. He married my cousin, Corinne Robinson, many years ago, and I have always thought of him as leading such a wonderful country life—busy but not too busy, and doing the kind of things that made his work a pleasure. He was always a useful and honored member of his community and his state.

Somehow old age and death seemed very far from him and I was saddened to be reminded once again how quickly we can pass from this world into the next. It doesn't seem to matter whether you are young or old. Why, only Thursday I got word also of the sudden death of one of the finest and sweetest young people I have had close contact with—my young housekeeper, Mrs. Nathaniel Freeman.

She had been in my cottage for 12 years. She took care of anything that was mine as though it belonged to her. Miss Thompson and I were both devoted to her, and we feel we have lost a trusted friend.

It seems somehow all wrong when someone whom you thought of as still so young suddenly makes the last journey that someday we all must make.

★ ★ ★

I SEE by the papers that Representative Daniel A. Reed of New York has decided to give up his fight for immediate House action on his tax-reduction bill. This is in deference to President Eisenhower's insistence that the budget must be balanced before any tax reduction is made.

Reed takes the position that, this being a campaign pledge, taxes should be reduced no matter what happens to our economy or to our defenses. Anyone of us, however, who did not evaluate that campaign promise for just what it was—a campaign promise—were more gullible than I believe the average taxpayer to be.

Most taxpayers are quite cognizant of the fact that as long as Russia will not take steps that would mean a greater sense of security for the rest of the world she holds a whip over us because we have to keep militarily strong. This includes as it must, foreign aid of all kinds because, without it, many areas of the world could not continue their military programs.

Economies can be made. They can be made in certain ways, but balancing the budget certainly is the most we can hope for at the present time. I don't think Reed will find that many people in this country really believe that a campaign promise to reduce taxes was a very realistic promise—nor was it one that, in the sober period of accepting full responsibility for the policies of the nation, could possibly be carried out.

Answer to Question 1.

WOMEN, according to Sydney Clark, In Colonial times, he says, upper class Cuban women smoked cigars openly. To keep the tobacco from soiling milady's fingers, manufacturers wrapped white bands around the cigars and this practice grew into the elaborate colored ones used as trademarks today. Another proof that women move the world.

Answer to Question 2.

Yes. A psychologist points out that while visual education has great value, it can be overemphasized in school. It can never replace the printed page. Overemphasis of visual aides may make students poor readers with poor vocabularies. Our booklet, "How to Increase Your Word Power, Think Better and Spell Perfectly," has helped thousands. Sent at cost, 15 cents (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question 3.

Yes, to some extent, like everything else. But don't let the possibility worry you. Many or most such disorders can be cured or helped. Three psychiatrists, in studying the environmental tendency to produce dementia praecox, manic-depressive, alcoholic and other mentally diseased types, found that children from unbroken homes are about as likely to show these disorders as those from broken homes. They concluded, therefore, that heredity played some part in producing these "major phychoses'"—or mental diseases.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

THAT potent combination, skill and luck, served South well in the following hand. South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

	♠1098 ♥5 ♦AQ876 ♣6542
♠J643 ♥J4 ♦K95 ♣J1097	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠Q75 ♥Q10987 ♦J104 ♣K8
	♠AK2 ♥AK632 ♦32 ♣AQ3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♥	Pass	2♦	Pass
3N.-T.	Pass	Pass	Pass

North, with only one and one-half honor-tricks, only six high-card points, was certainly out of line when he made a two-over-one response to the opening heart bid. The true choice was between one no-trump and pass. Observe that the three no-trump contract to which South (conservatively) leaped was extremely shaky despite South's five and one-half honor-tricks—20 high-card points. True, the partnership had the 26 points academically needed for game at no-trump, but North's distribution was bad for no-trump, as for hearts.

West opened the club jack, and after capturing East's king, declarer took stock. He could count two sure tricks in clubs, two in hearts and in spades, making six, and he saw that the other three tricks necessary to the contract might be established through a successful diamond finesse and setting up a long card in the heart suit. The latter possibility, however, struck him as decidedly remote. First, he would have to find a 4-3 break of the missing hearts; second, he would have to stave off challenges in other suits.

After due thought, South decided that the diamond suit offered greater hope. True, he would need considerable luck in that direction, also, but since the diamond finesse would be needed even if a third heart could be established, it seemed foolish to experiment with both red suits.

At the second trick South led a diamond and passed it—a successful finesse at this early stage would do no good. East won and returned a club. South won and now tried the diamond finesse to the queen. It held, and he ran the entire suit.

Weekly Report On Public Health

By J. Earl Smith, M.D.

St. Louis Health Commissioner

THERE were 19,020 babies born to St. Louisans last year, which is 983 less than the record high of 20,003 babies born in 1951. Of this total 9733 were boy babies and 9287 were girl babies.

The 1952 crop of babies did not fare quite so well as those born in 1951. Six hundred and seven died during the first year of life—an infant death rate for 1952 of 31.9 per 1000 live births — as compared to the 543 babies that died in 1951, or a rate for that year of 27.1.

★ ★ ★

SINCE the beginning of the twentieth century both the infant and maternal death rates have been and can still be drastically reduced. A baby born in St. Louis today has a five times greater chance of living to see his first birthday than one born 50 years ago.

Great progress has also been made in the saving of mother's lives. Just 20 years ago there were 60 maternal deaths as compared to 12 mothers' lives lost in 1952.

This great saving of mothers' lives is even more apparent when we consider that in 1932 there were only 13,106 babies born as compared to the 19,020 babies born in 1952. Hemorrhage during or shortly after childbirth is the chief cause of maternal deaths.

Last year 99 per cent of the babies in St. Louis were born in hospitals which means that during those first crucial days of life these babies and their mothers were safeguarded by skilled medical and nursing service, and by the availability, if needed, of oxygen, incubators, blood for transfusions, and other life saving methods which, in many instances, mean the difference between life and death.

★ ★ ★

THE FIRST 24 HOURS of life are by far the most hazardous. In 1952, a total of 243 or 40 per cent of the infant deaths occurred during the first day of life. More than two thirds of the infant deaths were recorded within the first month of life. About 60 per cent of deaths in the first month of life are associated with prematurity—an infant born alive who weighs 2500 grams (five and one-half pounds) or less at birth.

Women who have poor or no medical care during pregnancy are about three times as likely to have a premature baby as those who have good prenatal care. Good medical care for every mother from the earliest months of pregnancy, plus good hospital facilities, is the best insurance for the saving of lives of mothers and babies.

Shrimp, Creole Sauce

By Edith M. Barber

HIGHLY SEASONED TOMATO SAUCE AND RICE WITH SHRIMP MAKE A COLORFUL AND TASTY LENTEN MEAL. THE CREOLE SAUCE IS SPICED WITH ONIONS, GREEN PEPPERS AND A VARIETY OF HERBS.

A TREAT at any season, but especially during Lent, is the favorite shellfish-shrimp. This seems to be in a different class from any other fish or fish product. Everybody likes it, and we seldom find an allergy to shrimp, although this is common with some other shellfish.

Much of the fresh shrimp now distributed is the very large size. Of course, the flavor is the same whether the shrimp are large or small. Much of the frozen shrimp is the smaller size. While shrimp is not among the most expensive shellfish, it is not cheap, and we usually plan to extend it with plenty of sauce and often with rice that seems to go so well with this particular product. Often a highly seasoned tomato sauce, sometimes called "Creole," is chosen for service with shrimp.

This sauce is highly seasoned with onions, green peppers, and a variety of herbs. An attractive way of service is to cook cleaned halved green peppers a few minutes in boiling, salted water and then to drain them upside down. Fluffy, boiled rice is packed in each half and makes an attractive contrast with the crimson sauce and the delicate pink shrimp. Sometimes the sauce is combined with the rice. The cooked shrimp may then be added or used as a topping. A rich cream sauce, seasoned with curry powder or with plenty of grated sharp cheese, is also delicious with shrimp.

Shrimp Creole.

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, one pound fresh or frozen shrimps, creole sauce, one-half cup water, boiled rice, cooked green pepper halves.

Melt butter or margarine in skillet. Add cleaned shrimps and saute over low heat three minutes. Add creole sauce and water and let simmer five minutes. Serve with boiled rice piled into cooked green pepper halves. Yield: Six servings.

Creole Sauce.

Two tablespoons salad or olive oil, one-half cup minced onions, one clove garlic, peeled, two and one-half cups canned tomatoes, one teaspoon celery seed, one bay leaf, two teaspoons salt, two teaspoons sugar, two sprigs parsley, eight cloves, one teaspoon chili powder.

Heat oil with onion and garlic, and cook onion until yellow, about five minutes. Add remaining ingredients and simmer over low heat until mixture thickens. Yield: About two cups sauce.

Secrets of Charm

How to Select Glasses

WHEN you put on glasses, make sure that the frames do something for you. They can enhance the shape of your face, minimize the lines you dislike and actually change the feature contours. Unless they increase the special loveliness that is you, you have muffed your choice.

Do you have an overly-long nose? The wrong glasses will lengthen it. But the right selection will shorten it. What is known as the saddle type—frames with as low and wide a bridge as you can find—will shorten your nose and make it appear smaller. Conversely, the keyhole construction with a narrow bridge crossing from one eyebrow to the other will add length to a short or snub nose.

★ ★ ★

ARE YOUR EYES round and small? You can lengthen and enlarge them by choosing frames with an upsweep and a near-straight lower rim. High-placed side pieces augment this effect. If you have slant eyes, you're in real luck. Rue them as you may, play them up with the up-lines or harlequin shapes. Nature's upward strokes are the youngest and gayest any face can have.

Are your eyebrows deficient? The frames of your glasses can effectively act as stand-ins. A frame with a winged upper rim makes an elegant substitute. Of course, never, never let glasses hide lovely brows.

Glasses of fine workmanship that are not gaudy in either trim or color are effective in abetting feature problems. Not that you should wear undecorated frames. But, for instance, dubonnet with a tiny gold cluster at the joinings with bow-knot embossings.

★ ★ ★

IF YOU TAKE TIME to study the wide variety of frames that are now being offered, you will discover that well-chosen frames is a better choice than bright red can be as good a camouflage for facial difficulties as make-up. Clever eye make-up and clever glasses combined have made many a girl prettier with her glasses on than with them off.

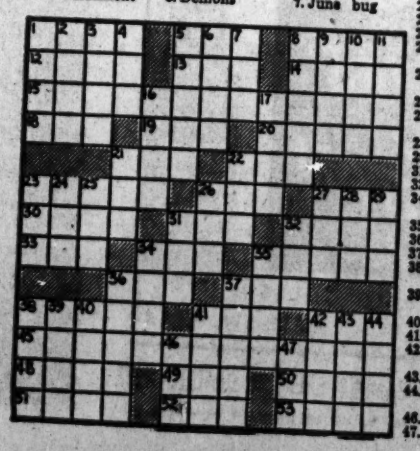

WELL-CHOSEN GLASSES CAN EFFECTIVELY CHANGE THE CONTOUR OF YOUR FEATURES.

Eye cosmetics for those who wear glasses are carefully outlined in the booklet, "Glasses that Adorn." A free copy will be sent to you if you send a self-addressed, stamped envelope along with your request. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of the Post-Dispatch.

Spring Hats

Beige and white are used together for many spring hats. The all-white hat with a beige veil is another favorite. Suggested as a contrast for navy or black as well as a flattering harmony for beige costumes, this pale theme contributes a fresh emphasis to women's wardrobes.

The CRUEL SEA

by Nicholas Monsarrat

(Ericson, Lockhart and a few others have survived the torpedoing of the Compass Rose, have been assigned to a ship in the frigate class, the Saltash, which has headed an escort group on convoy duty. The Saltash has fought through many battles, emerging triumphant over planes, destroyers and subs—destroying two of the latter. Lockhart, on a refitting leave, has fallen in love with Julie Hallam, a Wren, as the war enters its final phase.)

Chapter Forty-Two.
(Conclusion.)

LOCKHART began to read the letter again, without understanding it at all—the terrible message from a friend.

"You will have heard about Julie Hallam," it said, "horribly sad, and the worst luck in the world. She would never have been in the picket-boat at all if she hadn't been standing in for another girl who was ill. I gather it wasn't anybody's fault: they were making the long trip back from Hunter's Quay, late at night, and a bad squall blew up which no one could warn them about. Perhaps the engine failed as well. None of us knew anything about it for hours, and then a man rang up to say he'd seen the picket-boat's lights disappear, and was it important? . . . By that time, even if they'd been able to swim around at all, they couldn't have survived the cold long enough to get ashore. We got all the bodies in the end—17, mostly libertymen, but four Wrens among them. I thought you'd like some details, as I knew you were a friends of hers. We miss her here very much. When do you and Saltash get back to the war?"

Better, perhaps, to hear like this—almost accidentally, from a man who thought you knew already, a man not fumbling for the first foolish phrases. But drowning. . . . The fearful images slipped readily before Lockhart's eyes, because he knew Julie so well, because he knew drowning by heart: he saw the spread hair round her lolling head, the murky river rolling her over. Ophelia, he thought immediately: something about "poor wretch"; and with sick apprehension he recalled the exact phrase—"and dragged the poor wretch down to muddy death." Mud in Julie's eyes and nostrils, mud clogging her livid throat icy cold attacking her, and then the sucking currents where the river met salt water.

It was, cruelly, a good time to be dedicated, a good time to flog the body and the brain; for when Saltash did return, it was to a wonderful moment—the beginning of winning.

It was not yet victory: the enemy still had snapping teeth, and still used them when he he could; but it seemed that success could now be sighted, far away at the end of the enormous tunnel of the years, and that Saltash was returning to a conqueror's ocean. They had been away only two and a half months, but already it had happened, already the wonderful change was apparent. Another color seemed to have been added to the Atlantic, another blue to the sky; at night, the stars pricked a heaven full of the balm of victory. For after four and a half years of deadly struggle, when both sides, locked in combat, had stung themselves to a vicious and mortal fury, the enemy had begun to crack.

It showed itself in small things, it showed in the number of U-boat sinkings—90 were sent to the bottom during the first five months of the year: a single escort group on a single 20-day cruise accounted for six at one stroke. It showed in the huge convoys that went unharmed across the Atlantic, pouring the stuff in for the last assault; in March, for example, only one merchant ship was sunk, out of the enormous total that crossed and recrossed the ocean. It showed in U-boat tactics, which had become a pale shadow of what they had been in the past: now, cautious and indecisive, they broke off the battle as soon as resistance was met, and they exhibited no sort of readiness to come back for more.

* * *

THOUGH the rest of the upper deck had long been deserted, Lockhart was not surprised to find Ericson up on the bridge: the big figure, looming suddenly out of the darkness, did not startle him at all. He might have guessed where the Captain would be, at this closing hour . . . Ericson turned when he heard his step, and said: "Hello Number One," as if he too were unsurprised.

It was still early evening, but by now it was almost dark; the moon was already entangled in the rigging, and one by one the shore lights were coming on—the stars of peace, the first lights since the beginning of the war. The edge of the loch could be seen, and the shadowy hills above it; astern of them the clutch of surrendered U-boats lay silent and immovable—solid black patches on the restless water.

Lockhart knew why they were standing there together, leaning against the side of the bridge under the frosty open sky, though he was not sure that the moment could be adequately honored. They were there because it was the last day of the war they had shared; the Atlantic battle was done with, and secretly they wanted to review it, even if it were by vague allusion only, even if no word were spoken. It was a time to draw the threads together'— but perhaps, thought Lockhart, there were too many threads to this story; perhaps there was too much to be said, and to say it would entail a foolish babbling that the moment did not deserve. . . . But then this man, for whom he had such enormous affection, would not babble, would not cheapen.

"Five years, it's taken," said Ericson suddenly. "Getting on for six. . . . I wonder how far we've steamed."

"I added it up for Compass Rose," said Lockhart, grateful for the lead. "Ninety eight thousand miles. . . . But I never did it for Saltash. It seemed to be unlucky."

The noises of the ship rose vaguely to them; as was usual in harbor, somewhere a radio was playing, somewhere a small wave curled and broke against their hull, somewhere a heavy-stepping quartermaster made his rounds. Now the U-boats, the black shadows with no more fear in them, were caught in the track of the moon, and held there for their pleasure.

"I wish some of the others could have seen this," said Lockhart presently. "John Morell. Ferraby."

Ericson nodded. "Yes, they deserved it."

* * *

LOCKHART, drawing some lost names from the shadows of his mind, murmured aloud: "Tallow. Leading Seaman Phillips. Wells."

"Who was Wells?" asked Ericson.

"The yeoman in Compass Rose."

"Oh yes . . ."

"'He used to say to his signalmen: 'If you get worried, just sing out and I'll be up straight away.'"

"This is the time that you miss them."

"M'm. . . . But perhaps there are really too many people, to remember them properly. The names are just labels, in the end. Young Baker. Rose. Tonbridge, Carslake. All those chaps in Sorrel. And the Wrens we lost, on that Gibraltar convoy."

"Julie Hallam," said Ericson suddenly, trying it for the first time.

"Yes, Julie. . . ." For Lockhart's surprised heart, a twinge, and then nothing again. Perhaps, after a year, she really slept now, and he as well. It had been much the same with Compass Rose: there must be a special kind of war-memory — showing mercy in fading quickly, drowning forever under the weight of sorrow.

"You didn't get any medals," said Ericson inconsequently. "But I did my best for you."

Lockhart smiled in the darkness. "I can bear it."

"You deserved something, Number One."

"I can still bear it. . . . Remember when we had that lunch in London, and I said I wanted to stay with you in Saltash?"

"Yes. Made a lot of difference to me."

"Same here."

One thread, at least, was tied: one of the things they had not been going to say was happily said after all.

Ericson sighed again. "And we only sank three U-boats. Three, in five years."

"We worked hard enough for them, heavens knows."

"Yes." Ericson brooded, leaning heavily against a corner of the bridge where he must have spent many hundreds of hours. Out of the deep dusk he said—and after 68 months it was still a shock to hear him use the words:

"I must say I'm damned tired."

OUT OUR WAY—By J. R. Williams

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

A GIRL and a boy, Lois Farner and Bob Smith, have sent me a letter saying: "We would like to get some information on the Twelve Tables of the Law. They were written by the Romans, and we need facts for our history class. We would be very grateful for information."

The Twelve Tables were tablets on which Roman laws were written about 2400 years ago. A strange statement may be made about them: They have been lost, but at the same time they have been saved.

* * *

THE ACTUAL TABLETS are gone now, possibly having been lost during one of the times when Rome was captured and sacked. Some have said that they were written, or painted, on wood. Others declare that they were cut on sheets of brass or bronze.

Scholars seem to have proved that there were, at first 10 tables or tablets, but that two more were added a little later, making the famous Twelve. Possibly the early ones were on wood, the later ones on metal.

Roman school boys used to copy the Twelve Tables as a regular part of their schooling.

Roman writers often quoted the Twelve Tables. They would say something like this: "As laid down in the Twelve Tables, a man is master of his own house."

* * *

SCHOLARS HAVE gathered scores of statements of that kind from Roman writings, and we know much of what the Twelve Tablets stated. Here, in short form, are a few of the points which were covered:

"If any person shall cut down the trees of another man, he shall pay 25 pounds of copper for each tree.

"It is against the law to turn cattle into a neighbor's field where there are growing crops. If anyone reaps a neighbor's grain he shall be punished.

"If a tree overhangs the property of a neighbor, the neighbor can take the fruit dropped on his side of the line."
